Tonight, Premier W. A. C. Bennett and Mrs. Lydia Arsenault, member for Victoria, will address the convention.

The general convention of the league opens tomorrow, and during the two-day meeting 600 delegates will deal with 100 resolutions, ranging from one calling for legal sweepstakes to one which would bar incumbent members of both provincial and federal houses from league positions.

WRIGHT, SKILLINGS? A major battle for league leadership has been forecast with Mr. Perdue seeking re-election. He may be opposed by Tom Irwin, speaker of the Legislature; Percy Wright, who resigned his Victoria seat Monday; Noel Murphy, Ira Monson, Waldo Skillings, Ray McCarthy and Ernest Silvertown.

The election of officers is scheduled for Thursday evening's session.

CONFIDENCE VOTE ASKED BY CHURCHILL

LONDON (UP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill tonight demanded a vote of confidence on his government's action in rushing troops to the British Guiana colony in South America, to prevent a Communist coup.

Churchill called for the confidence vote on the eve of an anticipated explosive debate of the issue in Commons and shortly after Jagan arrived in London to protest the British actions.

Jagan was accompanied on his flight here by the deposed education minister, L. F. S. Burnham. He hoped to appeal to the Laborite opposition against the drastic measures taken by Colonial Secretary Oliver Lyttelton. (See story page 3.)

CITY 19-YEAR-OLDS FIRST IN B.C. TO VOTE

Nov. 24 By-Election Date Confirmed; Bennett Asks Acclamation for Minister

Voters' list for the Nov. 24 provincial by-election in Victoria will be increased by 2,000 names of persons in the 19 and 20-year-old group given the franchise at the session of the Legislature just closed.

Registrations for the list will close Oct. 31. Registration booths will be set up in 10 locations in downtown Victoria.

Confirmation of the Nov. 24 election date was made late Tuesday by Premier Bennett. Nov. 16 is nomination day.

Returning officer will be Alan Macfarlane, city lawyer, whose appointment was announced today by provincial officials.

It is expected the list of persons eligible to cast ballots will run as high as 22,700.

Premier Bennett, meanwhile, started campaigning by issuing an appeal to the voters to put the Social Credit candidate, Finance Minister Einar Gunnarson, into the seat vacated Monday by Percy Wright.

He asked the people of Victoria to put aside political party affiliations and give his key minister a seat in the Legislature.

"Now that the government has been duly elected for the next four years, it is important not only for the government, but for the people of the province, that the minister of finance have a seat in the Legislature," the premier said.

He thought that in the last five months Mr. Gunnarson, as minister of finance, had shown himself to be "a very capable minister."

SAVING EFFECTED He added that the government policy of "efficiency with economy," implemented under Mr. Gunnarson's direction, resulted in the reduction of more than $34,000,000 in the net debt of the province.

With regard to the premier's appeal, Victoria Progressive Conservative president Robert Patch expressed surprise that Mr. Bennett should have suggested that Victoria people, apart from their political beliefs, should elect Mr. Gunnarson.

He said there were sufficient issues at stake to warrant a major political campaign, and that his party refuses to concede anything to the Social Credit government.

Mr. Patch added his party opposes the suggestion that Mr. Gunnarson be elected by acclamation. He was referring to an editorial in a local paper which suggested that the vacant seat in the House be uncontested.

UNBOUND, PARTISAN "The editorial was unbound and partisan," he said, adding that the Progressive Conservative party fully believed that "Social Credit stands for state capitalism or fascism."

"On every occasion the PC party will oppose Social Credit," he said.

Mr. Patch announced that a candidate for the by-election probably will be chosen tonight at the annual meeting in Williams Hall at 8, of the local PC association.

The Liberal and CCF parties also are expected to enter the by-election campaign.

Meanwhile, City Manager Cecil Wyatt said today he had not reached a decision on Percy Wright's application for reinstatement as assistant city clerk.

Mr. Wyatt, who on Monday told Mr. Wright he could not come back to his old City Hall job, agreed Tuesday to consider the matter further in the light of the former City Hall employee's resignation as an MLA.

Mr. Wright, meanwhile, has left the city to attend a provincial Social Credit meeting in Vancouver.

Mr. Wright said his decision on Mr. Wright's City Hall status would be made "soon."

Strike Closes Last Gold Mine In Ont.-Quebec

6,500 Men Out; Stoppage Complete

NORANDA, Que. (BUP)—Workers at Waite Amulet, the last copper and gold mine still operating in this area, walked out on strike early today.

The walkout came after last-minute negotiations broke down in a dispute over the checkoff.

A strike has been legal since Tuesday, and the 320 mine employees have voted 88 per cent in favor of it.

REFUSED PAY BOOST

Mine manager T. E. Little said the company was prepared to make an offer on all points in dispute, including a wage boost, if the union would give up its demands for the checkoff. He said the union "summarily rejected" the proposal.

Pat Burke, area supervisor for the United Steelworkers union, said the company had not offered to discuss anything except a wage increase, and that only if the checkoff were dropped.

The union's other demands include a 22-cent-an-hour wage boost, a cut in working hours from 48 to 44, more holidays and a pension plan.

Strikes have already been called at the Noranda, Que. and Noranda, Ont. mines in the northwestern Quebec mining district, and at seven others across the border in the Porcupine gold fields of Ontario.

About 6,500 workers have been idled, some for more than three months, in the union's campaign for wage increases and the checkoff.

Negotiations are still under way at Upper Canada mines at Kirkland Lake, and the union said talks would be resumed next Monday. The union there is asking an eight-cent wage increase, as well as shorter hours and the checkoff.

GROWING CRISIS IN KOREA

U.S. Speeds Envoy To Panmunjom

U.S. Begins Evacuation

An army sergeant supervises loading of tank parts on the transport Normacpine at Trieste following announced decision of U.S. and Britain to evacuate Zone A of area and turn it over to Italy. Troubled spot was marked today by appearance of three crack Italian divisions along 90-mile Yugoslavian border. (NEA Telephoto.)

ITALY DARES TITO ON TRIESTE BORDER

Armored Patrols From U.S.-Equipped Divisions Move to Edge of Zone A

GORIZIA, Italy (UP)—Italy's best American-equipped NATO divisions today turned the 75-mile frontier opposite Yugoslavia into a vast armored camp.

Hundreds of United States built Patton tanks covered with protective tarpaulins lined the side streets of this partitioned city on the Italian-Yugoslav border and nearby villages.

The tanks armed with 90-millimeter guns which were supplied to Italy by the United States roared to within sight of the barbed wire boundary. On the Yugoslav side Marshal Tito was reported to have brought up the same type American tanks last week.

Paratroops of the crack Italian Folgore (Thunderbolt) division were busy stringing telephone cables as if they meant to stay.

Armored patrols went under cover of darkness to alert positions within yards of Yugoslavia and Zone A of Trieste which the United States and Britain have promised to turn over to Italy. Marshal Tito has warned he will move his Yugoslav troops into the zone if Italian forces set foot in it.

AT FULL STRENGTH

The Italian Folgore and Mantova divisions appeared at full strength in the strategic garrison villages along the border where Italians and Austrians fought in the First World War.

Gen. Attilio Bruno, commander of the Ariete division, said at Prodenone, 40 miles west of the border, he also expected to move his troops closer to the frontier.

Dean Plans Showdown Talk With Communists

WASHINGTON (UP)—Ambassador Arthur H. Dean headed for the Far East today to try to save the Korean peace conference, threatened by Communist stalling and the deepening crisis over prisoner repatriation.

Dean, former law partner of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, will represent the United Nations in showdown talks with the Communists at Panmunjom next Monday.

He is under orders to press for immediate agreement on a time and place for the political conference which, under the armistice terms, was supposed to begin next Wednesday.

Lending special urgency to his mission are ominous developments in Korea—South Korea's renewed threat to resume the war unless the conference begins soon and the Communist boycott of the PW brainwashing program.

Before leaving, Dean conferred with representatives of the 15 Allied nations that fought with the United States and the UN in Korea. What was said, however, was kept secret.

Efforts to get the political conference started on time have been snarled mainly by a deadlock over the Communist demand that "neutral" countries be invited and the UN insistence that only representatives of the two belligerents take part.

Dean has been authorized to discuss this issue but not to make any commitments without the approval of Dulles and other Allied representatives. There have been persistent but unconfirmed reports, however, that Dean might indicate UN willingness to compromise in the interest of getting the conference started.

PW Repatriation Feud May Result in New War

By EARNST HOBERECHT
TOKYO (UP)—The explosive armistice and prisoner of war situation is coming rapidly to a climax and observers here believe the chances for permanent peace are growing dimmer.

The next 10 days may tell, in the face of this "showdown" situation, the United Nations command is preparing for any eventuality, including the resumption of fighting.

Beyond a doubt the Communists also are alert to the possibility of renewed battle-field action.

Here is what is happening:

1.—"Explanations" to prisoners of war are running behind schedule. As a matter of fact, explanations to these prisoners, who said they did not want to go back to their respective homelands, may never be finished.

2. The Swedes, Swiss and Indians on the neutral nations repatriation commission are siding against the Poles and Czechs on the question of whether to use force to make prisoners attend explanation sessions. The majority says "no."

3. Members of the NNRC appear to be feuding among themselves.

If the explanations fail to come off or are not completed by the deadline of December 24, they will not be held. The UN command will not agree to an extension.

In the political conference, the UN is not likely to agree to any further holding of the prisoners. So, the prisoners probably will be turned to civilian status and be returned to their homes.

On October 26, only two days before the deadline for starting a political conference, Communist and Allied representatives will meet at Panmunjom to discuss the big pay-off session.

The October 26 meeting is not expected to accomplish a great deal, but it might pave the way for a full conference and therefore avoid a complete collapse of efforts.

However, right now many observers believe there is at least a 50-50 chance that the political conference never will be held.

If this happens, renewed hostilities in Korea are a definite possibility, although the UN undoubtedly would go to a great length to find some means to prevent this.

Plucked From Death Under Lion's Gate

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two men were plucked from death Tuesday evening when their small craft foundered in wild seas one mile west of Lion's Gate Bridge.

Saved from drowning when the seams of their boat opened up in heavy seas were W. G. Townley, West Vancouver, and J. D. McKenna of Deep Cove.

Crewmen of the tug Nanaimo Tyee rescued the men. The 22-foot pleasure craft sank.

British Soldier Found Guilty of Cowardice

CATTERICK CAMP, Eng. (AP)—A court-martial today convicted a British soldier of cowardice for cringing in a Korean trench while his comrades fought a desperate battle with the Communists.

Fusilier Patrick Lydon, 25, was sentenced to a year in prison and discharged with ignominy. The finding and sentence are subject to confirmation. It was the first such case in the British Army in more than 30 years.

Ships Collide In St. Lawrence

QUEBEC CITY (BUP)—An Italian freighter and a Norwegian ship under charter to a Canadian firm collided in dense fog in the St. Lawrence River early today, and the Italian vessel was deliberately run aground to save it sinking.

JAZZ MAKES BOND FOR BAND

Musical Explorers Gambol With Polyrhythm Themes

BY DENNY BOYD
Gordon King is a high school teacher. Bill Heybroek sells shoes. Wally Grieve works for a radio station. Jimmy Burrell is in the navy and Ian MacDougall is a high school student.

Yes, the members of King's 18-piece Victoria All-Star Orchestra come from all walks of life; but when they sit down to gether on a bandstand they have a common bond—the furtherance of modern jazz.

The cause was furthered Tuesday night as 500 fans, some of them experienced listeners but just as many of them there from curiosity, heard King's aggregation present a two-hour musical exploration called "Concert in Modern Concepts," at Victoria Ballroom.

King's musicians have no truck with the conventional two-beat and waltz-time tempos; their forte is polyrhythm and atonalism, served in heaping portions.

The Afro-Cuban beat of "Machito," featuring the bongo drums of Wally Grieve and the moody Stan Kenton "Theme to the West," spotlighting Ray Fitch's brilliant piano, were two of the high-points of the program and certainly the two most difficult endeavors.

The show was divided into two sections with a six-piece combo augmenting the more serious works of the big band. Also featured were the "Oakettes," a popular vocal quartet which specializes in singing unusual arrangements of standard tunes such as "Solitude" and "Don't Blame Me."

Although some of the brass scoring caused difficulties, the band was highly polished for the first of what the members hope will be a monthly series of concerts.

Burrell and Heybroek, on trumpet and tenor sax respectively, stole the solo honors.

It was the 29th traffic fatality of the year here and the 64th for the lower mainland.

Climbing Rates Suicide for Rails Counsel Maintains

OTTAWA (CP)—A spokesman for eight provincial governments said Tuesday Canadian freight rates have reached the "saturation point."

M. A. MacPherson of Regina said before the board of transport commissioners that the railways are headed for suicide if they keep raising rates.

Mr. MacPherson was delivering argument for the provinces—all except Ontario and Quebec—against an application by the Canadian Pacific Railway to have the board change the basic system of setting freight charges so as to allow that company greater rail earnings.

Argument revolved around a CPR proposal that the board make a drastic revision in the system of setting rates, now based on the current financial requirements of the CPR.

FARMERS' STRIKE CAUSES PRICES TO SKYROCKET

Interior IWA, Lumbermen Meet Today

VANCOUVER (CP)—New talks aimed at averting a strike in the southern B.C. interior lumber industry have been inaugurated by the British Columbia department of labor.

A spokesman for the department said today that a conciliation officer will meet separately with the International Woodworkers of America (CIO-CCL) and operators today. A joint meeting may be called Thursday.

The IWA voted last week in favor of a strike by a narrow margin following rejection of a government conciliation board recommendation for a three-cent hourly wage increase. No strike date has been set.

Operators also rejected the award.

Meanwhile, a strike affecting some 4,000 workers in the northern section of the interior industry is in its fourth week with union officials claiming all but one plant closed down.

Love-Triangle Murder Hearing Set for Oct. 28

CORNWALL, Ont. (BUP)—Army Lieut. Peter Balcombe appeared in magistrate's court today on charges he murdered pretty CWAC Sgt. Marie Anne Carrier, 22, when she refused to marry him. He was remanded to Oct. 28 for preliminary hearing.

It was reported, meanwhile, that Quebec police had a letter, written by Miss Carrier before she was slain, in which she professed her undying love for the handsome young officer, who was already married.

"I can never marry you," it said, "and I shall remain single for the rest of my life."

The letter never was mailed, police said.

Balcombe did not plead guilty or innocent at today's hearing.

A crowd jammed the tiny courtroom for the hearing. If a murder trial is ordered, court officials said, it could not

Guiana Reds Planned Burning of Homes White Paper Alleges

'Imperialist Nonsense' Snorts Jagan
En Route to London to Protest Ouster

GEORGETOWN (AP)—British Guiana generally expressed surprise today over the colony's ousted leftist government plotted to burn down the homes of government officials and white men.

But officials of the People's Progressive party, which controlled the government before Britain revoked the colony's constitution Oct. 9 and fired six cabinet officials, took the line that the accusations were an imperialist-inspired concoction brewed by the London government and its representatives in the colony.

The charges were made in a white paper issued in London Tuesday. The London government said its information came "from reliable sources" who were not named.

TROOPS FOILED PLAN

The white paper said British troops sent to Georgetown foiled plans to turn the colony into a totalitarian state. It listed 11 charges against ousted Prime Minister Cheddi Jagan and his regime, ranging from the fire plot to plans to rewrite the colony's school textbooks with a political bias.

In Frankfurt, Germany, en route to London, Jagan today labeled the white paper charges "pure nonsense." Asserting the PPP had no links with the Russians, he declared "our chief aim is just to improve the very low and miserable living conditions of our people."

SEEKS CAUSE

Jagan said he is en route to the British capital to see Colonial Secretary Oliver Lyttelton "to find out the exact cause" of his ouster and the suspension of a constitution.

The white paper asserted the fire plot was to be put into effect.

Missing Ransom Money Probe Starts Third Secret Session

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Police officials today called witnesses ranging "from a police clerk on up" in the third day of their closed-door investigation of possible irregularities in police handling of the Greenleaf kidnapping.

Police Chief Jeremiah O'Connell, heading the panel of police officials holding the inquiry into the arrest of the kidnapers here and the recovery of half of the $600,000 ransom, indicated, however, that the key witness may again postpone his appearance.

REACH FOR A RENNIE

O'Connell said the panel today would hear about five more witnesses, but he did not know whether Lieut. Louis Shoulters, acting on a tip from taxi driver John Hager, who arrested Carl Austin Hall and Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, the confessed kidnap-killers of six-year-old Bobby Greenleaf, and recovered about $233,000 of the ransom. Shoulters was reported Tuesday to have suffered a nervous breakdown.

Hager was questioned for six hours by the panel Tuesday. Hager told reporters before testifying that he had been "hounded so much by this thing that my wife has become a nervous wreck."

"All this because I decided to tip off Lieut. Shoulters. It's gotten so I wish I had never called the police. And you can bet your bottom dollar I won't call them again on anything."

Five Found Dead in Plane Wreck; Bodies Taken Out to Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—The bodies of five plane crash victims were flown here early today. The tragic sequel to a pilot's desperate gamble to bring a badly injured miner to hospital through stormy skies.

The plane, a single-engine de Havilland Beaver, owned by Pacific Western Airlines, crashed Monday in the mountainous Garibaldi Park area 55 miles north of here on a mercy flight from Bridge River, B.C.

All five persons aboard were killed. They were: Bob Drinkwater, 33, of New Westminster, the pilot; Lucille Vorden, 21, of Langley, a nurse; Joseph Neymayer, of Pioneer Mines, the injured man; and Lawrence Hamilton of Pioneer Mines and Ernest Maple of Goldbridge, B.C., passengers. Their bodies were recovered by a ground party which reached the wreckage late Tuesday after it had been spotted from the air.

The wreckage was spread over a wide area and was burned. One wing was apparently sheared off by a tree, and the fuselage was found several hundred feet away.

Russ Baker, general manager of Pacific Western Airlines, who spotted the wreckage from the air, said the flight never would have been made in such poor weather on a scheduled trip.

"Bob would never have attempted to fly in weather like that if he didn't feel that injured man's life depended on getting through," he said.

Drinkwater, an experienced bush pilot, flew to Bridge River Monday afternoon to bring Neymayer, suffering head injuries, to hospital at Vancouver. Maple and Hamilton boarded the plane there despite warnings of the poor weather.

The pilot was apparently following the Pacific Great Eastern Railway tracks and flying low beneath the cloud cover. The wreckage was found near Garibaldi Station on the railway, 15 miles north of Squamish.

Queen's Secretary To Retire

LONDON (CP)—Sir Alan Lascelles, probably the only man who ever received a knighthood in a train, is to retire as the Queen's private secretary after 33 years of service with the Royal Family.

Sir Alan, 66, is to be succeeded at the end of the year by Sir Michael Adeane, it was announced from Buckingham Palace.

Sir Alan, known to friends as Tommy, first joined the Palace secretariat in 1920. From 1931 to 1933 he was private secretary to the Earl of Bessborough, then governor-general of Canada, and helped in preparations for the Ottawa trade conference of 1932.

He accompanied King George VI and Queen Elizabeth on their tour of Canada in 1939 and it was then that the accolade of knighthood was dispensed in unusual circumstances. Sir Alan was knighted by the late king on a train speeding to Washington from Niagara Falls, Ont.

The retiring secretary has long been one of the principal men behind the scenes of Buckingham Palace. Now serving his fourth sovereign, he acts as one of the chief links between the Crown and the government of the day. He is credited with having a significant part in the development of speeches by the late king and by the present Queen, particularly the celebrated Christmas broadcasts of royalty.

Pulp and paper has been the chief developer of Canada's hydro-electric resources.

MURDOCH WOULD INSIST OFFICE-SEEKERS QUIT

Ald. Brent Murdoch would have the city take a leaf from provincial government books, by making it mandatory for civic workers to resign from their jobs if they seek public office.

He proposes that City Council pass a by-law covering this circumstance, so as there will never be a repeat of the Percy Wright controversy.

Wright, the assistant city clerk, successfully ran as a candidate for the provincial legislature. He left his job to attend the Legislative session and then reported back when it was over, only to be told his job wasn't open to him.

His case is still under review.

The provincial government requires its employees to resign if they enter politics.

JURY REDUCES CHARGES AGAINST SAANICH MAN

An Assize Court jury Tuesday found there was not sufficient evidence to support three charges of indecent assault against Robert Allan, a 31-year-old Saanich man, and rendered verdicts of guilty of common assault on all three counts against the accused.

The Crown alleged that Allan had committed indecent assault on three young girls in Saanich on July 16.

Allan was remanded by Mr. Justice H. S. Wood until October 29 for sentence.

Following his trial, the accused pleaded guilty to a charge of indecent assault on a girl in Victoria on June 6. Mr. Justice Wood will sentence the accused on this charge next week.

GAS Famine May Follow TRUCK-DRIVERS' STRIKE

LONDON (Reuters)—A strike of 2,500 London gasoline truck drivers threatens to tie up the city's motor vehicles and ground planes at London's two airports. Gas supplies on hand will last only until Saturday or Sunday. The strike began Monday and spread through the London area Tuesday.

The Price of Automobiles

MR. MAURICE WESTERN, Washington correspondent of The Winnipeg Free Press, recently bought an American automobile and proposed to bring it home to Canada with him. Then, for the first time, he discovered why automobiles cost so much in this country.

After figuring it out, Mr. Western concludes that on a car selling for $2,041.34 in the United States the Canadian Government adds $893.23 in tariff and taxes. Including all other items, the total cost of the American car delivered in Canada is $3,034.20.

Of this increment $756.53 is straight protection for the Canadian automobile industry—enough protection to make sure that very few American cars ever reach this country to compete with local manufacturers. On the American manufacturer's price of $1,440, in the case of Mr. Western's car, the rate of protection is 52.5 per cent. That is protection running wild at the cost of the Canadian automobile buyer.

But these arrangements are more complicated and subtle than the public had ever suspected until The Free Press at last revealed them. "The general public," says The Free Press, "will be surprised and shocked to learn that the Department of National Revenue at Ottawa, in defiance of the Geneva trade agreement, has been granting to the Canadian automobile industry about twice as much tariff protection as the Customs Tariff Act (Item 438-A) would appear to authorize."

How is this managed? By a remarkable arrangement which the public, and probably Parliament itself, has never suspected.

The tariff on American cars is supposed to be 17½ per cent. This tariff, it has been generally assumed, applied on the retail price of an American dealer—less U.S. taxes—at the point of manufacture. On this price, as The Free Press says, plus 17½ per cent tariff, the normal Canadian taxes of 15 per cent excise and 10 per cent sales tax were imposed. Allowing only for the amount by which these taxes increased the tariff, it was concluded that the total margin of protection was 22 per cent.

"That conclusion," The Free Press admits, "was wrong. In fact, the National Revenue Department at Ottawa soaks the Canadian public far more than this. The value upon which the 17½ per cent tariff is imposed is the United States dealer's price, including the United States federal and state taxes and any extra charges he—the U.S. dealer—has paid. In the result, the protection given to our Canadian manufacturers is sky-rocketed outrageously. . . . This practice of pyramiding the taxes of the two countries is not only unjust. It is a violation of the principle of the Geneva trade agreement. There is universal agreement among nations that it is wrong to compel the citizens of one country to pay taxes to another country. Yet here, in the case of automobiles, a Canadian, before he can import a car from the United States, must first pay the United States taxes upon it. More than that, he must then pay our tariff on those taxes. Still more, he must then pay our taxes of 15 per cent excise and 10 per cent sales taxes upon the U.S. taxes, plus our tariff."

Finally, Canada forbids the importation of used American cars, lest they compete with used cars here. A Canadian can import a used American car only if he takes his case to the Cabinet at Ottawa and it graciously consents to pass an order-in-council permitting the importation. That, to say the least of it, is highly improbable.

Considering all these hidden factors, it is no wonder that automobiles cost so much in Canada and are so much cheaper a few miles away in the United States. In our tax and tariff policies they seem to be regarded not as vehicles of transportation, not even as luxuries but as an evil, like liquor, to be discouraged at almost any cost to the buyer.

Mr. Gunderson and Mr. Wright

MR. GUNDERSON'S DECISION to stand for election in Victoria is to be welcomed. It is high time that the minister of finance, next to the Premier the most powerful member of the Government, ascertained whether the people desire him in the Legislature or not. A temporary arrangement by which a man defeated at the polls is managing the finances of British Columbia has continued too long already. With the least possible delay, therefore, the Government should call the by-election and seek the will of the electors.

Many matters of importance no doubt will be discussed when the Victoria campaign opens. It is sufficient to say at the moment that this by-election will offer the people of British Columbia their first local opportunity since the general election of last June to render a verdict of approval or disapproval on the work of the Government.

The real issue of the poll will not be the personality of Mr. Gunderson but the Government's record to date. As Mr. Bennett's chief colleague, especially as the author of the far-reaching taxation recently imposed, Mr. Gunderson must carry into the election a heavy weight of responsibility. It is for the voters to judge those and other policies undertaken by the Government.

So far as Mr. Percy Wright is concerned there is no reason that we can see why he should not be re-appointed to his modest position in the City Hall, after resigning from the Legislature, if the City Council is satisfied with his work there. The Council was quite right in refusing to employ him while he was a member of the Legislature, since he must frequently be absent from his duties and must legislate on controversial issues affecting civic government. But if the Council is satisfied with his past services and can usefully employ him again his brief adventure into politics should be no barrier.

The Council is not concerned with his private political views so long as he follows, in his working hours, the instructions of his superiors. While the city is by no means bound to re-hire him or any other servant who has left its service by his own choice, it would be wise to do so if Mr. Wright is the best man available for the job. The Council certainly should not wish to leave any lingering suspicion of political prejudice against an employee who obviously thought he was doing his duty to his principles and who now feels called to the higher duty of making way for Mr. Gunderson.

Catherine Mitchell

THIS community and this province have suffered a serious loss in the death Monday of Mrs. W. E. M. Mitchell, for years the guiding spirit and active leader of the John Howard Society of Vancouver Island.

Largely through her efforts and tireless interest the agency which attempts to help the person released from prison has grown to significant stature in this town.

To her came the outcast and the rejected. And to them she gave not only material assistance, but the sympathy and understanding which helped many along the rough path toward rehabilitation.

Catherine Mitchell had devoted a large part of her life to the study of narcotics addiction and to penal reform. She spoke with authority on those subjects and supported her enlightened ideas with active work which often taxed her physical resources.

Her knowledge and ability had been recognized widely. New Zealand, which she visited last year, had sought to enlist her services in important prison reform and she had considered accepting a post with the government of that nation prior to the onset of her critical illness.

She will be remembered with affection and respect by any with whom she worked, both on committees and in the ranks of nameless men, who came to her in bitterness and from her received inspiration toward decent living.

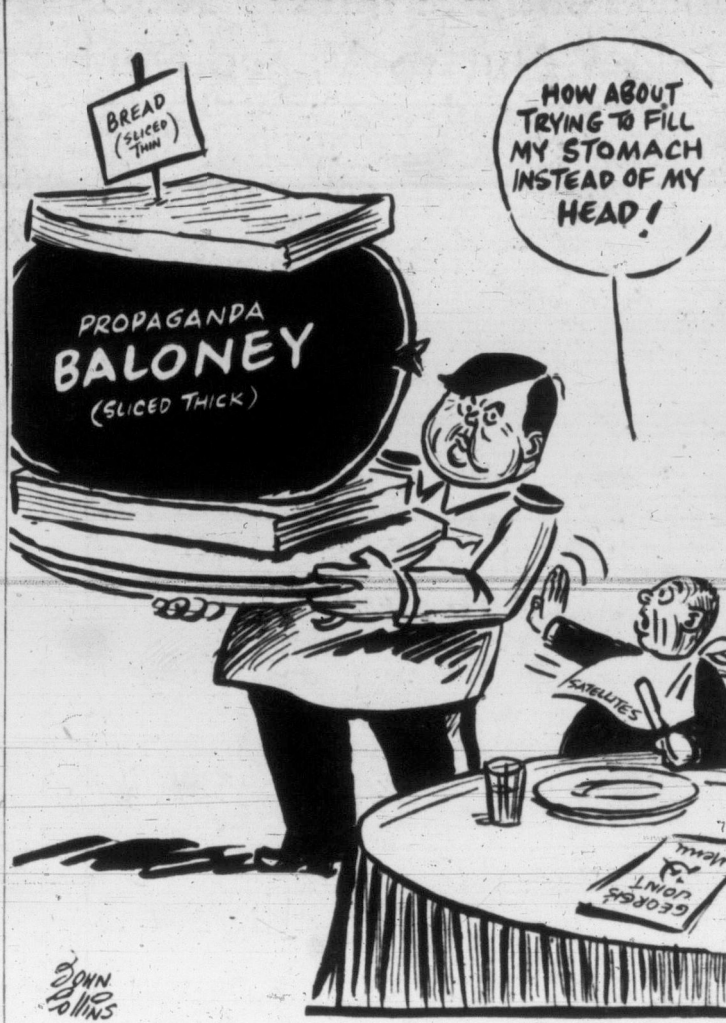

First the Desire to Quit

A UNIVERSITY of British Columbia psychology professor has formed a "class" of 40 or 50 narcotics addicts in Oakalla jail with the hope of helping them to overcome their addiction.

The professor is by no means certain that all addicts can be cured. He appears to believe, however, that some of them can be helped and his work with them may be useful in promoting a more effective method of handling such people.

The experiment will be important if the professor can determine how many of the cases actually wish to get away from drugs. That, we take it, is the first requisite of rehabilitation. If his efforts can promote that desire and give it compelling strength, a valuable step forward will be made against an evil which appears to have been badly handled and inefficiently treated in recent years.

BY DAVID BROCK

THIS is not only the birthday of my twin daughters, Hilary Mary and Phoebe Gaye. And it is not only the birthday of a late and well-known uncle of mine, whose unpublished autobiography is entitled "From TB to DTS" . . . he'd had both, and much else besides, but he never got round to writing any of the book except the title. It would have been quite a book, but his wife wouldn't have been its most friendly critic. No, October 21 is not only these things, but it is Trafalgar Day as well. The one day when we should visit the library, take out Mr. Vincent Sheehan on Lord Nelson, and carry the book to the city rubbish heap, in a ceremonial parade. Full dress with gas masks. The idea of anyone making money out of blackguarding Nelson is an unsuitable idea for October 21.

Creeping Like Snail

LAST time I was telling you about the fastest boy on our street, whose little chums (so help me) actually push him up the hill to school (so help him). He is not only very fat, but very very lazy. Haul away, Joe. But blow me down, I forgot to tell you how another neighborhood child gets to school. Or got to school, on one recent occasion.

This little girl, aged 10 or so, got the impression that her teacher is a sadist and worse. So she went on strike, and said her education had now ended. She planned to nip out of the house and spend the day, or maybe spend the rest of her life, with her granny, a fond old woman who praises the child for her imperfections. And if the child pretends to be ill, which is several days a month, Granny looks after her at Granny's house so she won't be a nuisance to poor Mummy, and the child and Granny have a most wonderful time. "Being Sick Can Be Fun." Remind me to write an article for the Reader's Digest on that subject some time.

WELL, before the little striker could nip over to Granny's her mother grabbed her and shook her for a while before taking her to school. Shake before taking. She may have rattled the kid's wit loose, such as they are. But she didn't loosen the old determination. The kid refused to walk. So the mother picked up a big stick and tapped the child on the starter, and the child consented to walk almost a block before being tapped again.

And so they progressed, block after block, walk and tap, tap and walk. Several men on their way to work burst into roars of rude laughter, and several women looked as if they were going to phone the police to arrest the mother and not the truant. But the mother was past caring. When they got to the school, the bell had gone and all the children were in the classrooms . . . even when you beat time with a stick, a dead march is still a dead march, and slow enough to charm the fattest of fat boys.

THE mother told the child to run to her classroom. Far from running, the child stood stiller than ever, and it required an imitation of Gene Krupa banging his drums to get the kid into the building at all. Even in the hallways she wouldn't progress under her own steam, and in the end the mother and the stick had to push her right through the classroom doorway. After which the mother ran like a rabbit. If you think this tiny narrative is sad or brutal, you are lucky. It means you don't know that kid. I congratulate you.

Economy Week

WHEN I went through my receipted doctors' bills for the Income Tax boys last April, I was astounded to see how much I spent on healing last year. The pharmacist's bills are of no interest to Ottawa, but they are to me, so I went through those, too, and was flabbergasted. All of a flabber, I was, and much gasted. Dumbfounded. In fact, for one wild moment I thought of calling my house Dumbfoundland.

I decided to go to a new type of doctor. My old ones were too smart. Smart young doctors think of too many things. I wanted an old cynic who didn't believe in anything any more. The chances were, he'd be right most of the time.

AN IGNORANT man who doesn't believe anything is only right half the time . . . for example, if you think you're sick when you're not, he's right to distrust you, but if he thinks you're not sick when you are, he'll get fooled.

Well, I picked me a real old grouch of a leech, I did. He spent all his days laughing at human credulity and groaning at merit in others. Yet he kept up with his studies, though perhaps from an unfashionable angle. He didn't laugh at closed books. He laughed while reading them.

I TOLD him all my latest worries and he just shook his head about everything and said, "Son, there's a whole lot we no longer know." I gathered that the more we know, the more doubtful it all is. I admire this attitude in gardeners. You'll find that the oldest and most successful are the very ones to claim they know less each year. But in a doctor it can be rather frightening. Still, it also frightens your chemist, whose pills drop very noticeably. It may be poor sport to go scaring a pharmacist who is only obeying orders when he fills prescriptions. But it's better than nothing.

As Our Readers See It

TAXES, TAXES

Taxes, taxes all the way, may well be the swan song of this legislative assembly. Social Credit is tax-happy. Heavy new taxes have been imposed on our greatest industries, lumbering and mining, just at a time when these industries are faced with a crisis of lessened demand and rapidly falling prices. Many of the smaller sawmills face disaster; they will have to fold up, while the giants will be most seriously handicapped by the new impost.

It is now quite evident that there is a world-wide glut of zinc, and lead and copper are also in over supply, producing costs are exceedingly high, many base metals and gold mines are closing down. For many more the new tax will be the last straw.

How does labor view the prospect of smaller and probably lower wages? If a working man wants to enjoy a drink with his wife among pleasant surroundings after hours, he and she will have to pay this government an extra 10 per cent, not only on their drinks, but on all other purchases made at that time, such as candy, cigarettes, soft drinks (for the children), etc.

We have been given one derisory crumb of comfort: we can actually eat a dollar meal without tax. But food should not be taxed at all and the sales tax for all purchases should start at one dollar. Lighten the tax load on our children and the poor.

What do wage earners, regularly paying their hospital tax (it's nothing else) since its inception, think of the 33,000 tax dodgers, of whom only some 5,000 have been put on the tax rolls? There will certainly be far more defaulters in future. What about it?

If Einar Gunderson stands in Victoria I will be most happy to register my emphatic vote against him. If you reflect on this government's record, I think you will too.

JOHN KENNY,
P.O. Box 902, Victoria.

FLOATING DEFENSE

Your paper gives a very lucid description of the new liquor setup. No doubt there will be many disappointments. Nevertheless, let us hope that every cent of the enormous revenue which will derive from this will be spent on the navy and air force and help prepare for the Third World War.

Many ships, planes, submarines, etc., will be required. Let us not underestimate our enemies, especially Russia. I was there many years ago visiting the managing director of some large engineering works in connection with the Russian navy. He told me that every man in those works was a specialist, well-trained both in theory and practice. My friend (an Englishman) was a clever man and good linguist. Let us not underestimate our enemies.

I do not doubt, however, if given time through the diplomacy of Great Britain—Canada will be in a position to give a good account of herself in the next war. She did well overseas in the last two wars—but in the next war, every man will be required here in Canada. We should remember the Boy Scouts motto, "Be prepared" and also that "Victory comes to the swift."

The Problem of Milk

This question has been thrashed back and forth for years. The present government (after many delays and postponements) finally stated that from Oct. 1, 1953, milk would be free from control beyond the producer level both in price and distribution.

We now find that the government has refused to grant licenses other than to those already distributing. This we declare is a breach of faith both to the consumer and those who may desire to get cheaper milk to the public either through cash and carry or delivery.

The Vancouver prices at present are, for 3.5 per cent milk, 22 cents per quart delivered and 20 cents cash and carry. Victoria prices are 24 cents delivered and 24 cents cash and carry.

For many months the spread for cash and carry milk in Vancouver and Victoria has been 3 cents per quart and now the spread is 4 cents.

Not only are certain retail firms desirous of giving a proper cash-and-carry spread but are desirous of giving a better quality of milk, all of which should be permitted if milk is to have free competition beyond the producer level as promised by the government.

Milk distributors in Victoria who now in fact hold a monopoly of distribution absolutely refuse to grant even a 1 cent spread for cash and carry, and a consumer buying and picking up milk at the Victoria creameries in any quantity has to pay the same 25 or 25 cents price (depending upon quality) as they charge for house delivery.

This is grossly unfair and not in keeping with modern distribution practices. Press reports state that the Victoria agreement not to sell below a fixed price, under the circumstances is against the federal anti-combine laws, as milk, beyond the producer level, is now beyond the control of the B.C. Milk Board.

Victoria at times draws from the mainland for some of its supplies. What is shipped as surplus that would otherwise go into manufactured milk products for which the mainland producer would get a very much lesser price. Any freight costs could under these circumstances be absorbed by the mainland producers and they would still get a very much better price than when their surplus goes into manufacture. This fact makes the 4 cents spread all the more glaringly wrong and grossly unfair to Victoria consumers.

What we should insist on is free competition beyond the producer level as promised and this to include the issuing of licenses for distribution and processing to all capable of strictly adhering to the laws covering cleanliness and quality of milk put into the hands of the consumer.

The average cost of delivery per quart to householders is around 6 cents per quart.

Dividing the Sheep and Goats

By JOSEPH ALSOP From Pannunjon.

DID we continue the Korean War for many weary, costly months in order to avoid forcible repatriation of our prisoners, only to be confronted with something very like forcible repatriation at the bitter end?

The question is very insistent here in Pannunjon, among the bleak brown hills where the 23,000 prisoners nurse their fears behind barbed wire while the Indian guards march smartly to and fro and the neutral nations' repatriation commission elaborately and politely debates technicalities.

It is harder, it seems, to find out the free choice of men than one would have thought. It can even be a cruel business, deadly to some of those who must choose.

Not so long before these words were written, the Indian chairman of the repatriation commission held his first full dress press conference. Lieut. Gen. Thimmaya is a handsome, soldierly fellow, obviously a man of good will, although one may perhaps doubt the good will of his smooth-political advisers, Haksar and Chakravarti.

CROWDED TENT

The tent is crowded, with the Communist newspapermen looking bleakly superior on one side, and the UN reporters shooting questions from the other. It is pretty hard to believe that the only prize of so many months of long hard fighting, the principle of human freedom, is here at stake.

But then a question will suddenly, half indirectly raise the issue, to be dealt with by Gen. Thimmaya as best he could, in his smooth Oxford English.

Have the rosters of the prisoners, given to the Indian custodial force at the time of the prisoner turn over, now been handed-on to the repatriation commission as a whole?

Yes, says the general, surely this was normal procedure. (So the repeated warning of the UN command have been ignored. The Poles and Czechs on the commission have the lists of the prisoners by compounds. And when each compound is called up before the Communist "explaners," the prisoners can be threatened with hints of reprisal to their families if they do not change their minds.)

COMPULSORY EXPLANATIONS

And how about this business of the explanations being compulsory, and the rules of the commission requiring the prisoners to attend several explanations?

Here the general is not clear about his own rules. At first he says, of course explanations will not be compulsory. Then the political advisers whisper agitatedly in his ear, and he half changes his answer. And then there is more whispering and the general ends by replying that attendance at repeated explanations will be compelled after all, but that the prisoners may exercise the privilege of not listening. (So the Communists have at least got in the thin end of the wedge for something a bit like brain washing.)

And then about the violence in the camp, how about that? The general, plainly uncomfortable, laboriously explains that the prisoners tend to become violent in the presence of "some members of the commission"—the Poles and Czechs. Several had been shot in the course of these outbreaks, one had perhaps been beaten to death in the hospital; it was too bad, it could not be helped. The general has talked to some of the prisoners' leaders. He hopes they understood things better now.

Such were the symptoms of an ugly situation. If it worsens, great numbers of these unfortunate Chinese and North Koreans who feel themselves so helplessly the playthings of an unpredictable fate, may in the end be bulldragged into changing their minds and going home to their deaths. It does not need to happen. But the situation needs to be understood and dealt with.

CAUSE OF TROUBLE

Partly the trouble lies in the make-up of the commission itself that the American administration agreed to in its eagerness to get a truce. The Communists have two active advocates on the commission, the Pole and the Czech. We have none, for the Swiss and the Swede are truly neutral, and will not plead the cause of either side.

Partly, one must add, the trouble also comes from our own side. Indian neutrality, even Indian strong-headedness, are being made immeasurably worse by American tactlessness and "psy-war" folly. The result can be very bad. But a good result is still possible, even after all that has passed, if the calm and sensible Gen. Hull and the brilliantly able American ambassador here, Ellis Briggs, will just replace the "psy-warriors," and try presenting the UN viewpoint in an orderly and friendly manner.

Blame the repatriation commission if you choose, for what has happened to date; but in the distribution of blame, do not forget those who approved such a packed commission, and those who have been doing their silly best to irritate the commission into wrong action.

DISTURBING REALITIES

Technically, we in aviation have met with miraculous success. We have accomplished our objectives, passed beyond them. We actually live, today, in our dreams of yesterday; and, living in those dreams, we dream again. Our visions of the future now embrace rocket missiles and supersonic flights. We speculate on traveling through space as we once discussed flying across oceans. But, unlike the early years of aviation, our dreams of tomorrow are disturbed by the realities of today. In this new, almost superhuman world, we find alarming imperfections. We have seen the aircraft, to which we devoted our lives, destroying the civilization that created them. We realize that the very efficiency of our machines threatens the character of the men who build and operate them.

—Charles A. Lindbergh, in "The Spirit of St. Louis"

Specializing in General Practice

IN an interesting discussion of doctors under the British Health Plan, the London Economist recently expressed deep concern over the general practitioner.

"The big advances in medical science in the last 30 years," says the article, "though they have enabled general practitioners to do more for their patients, have inevitably been accompanied by increased specialization. Doctors have found it quite impossible to keep abreast of all the advances that have been made; and since the application of the advances has often needed the emphasis of a large hospital, the general practitioner has been left rather than on general practice."

The Economist notes certain disabilities inflicted on the general practitioner by a system which brings to his waiting room patients with trivial ailments who seek advice and attention because they are covered by the scheme. Were they forced to pay individual fees, they would stay away. Since treatment does not cost them a particular charge for each visit, they take up the doctor's time, drain his energy and keep him from giving his full resources to those who may need them.

"This and other difficulties of state medicine are discussed by the publication which concludes with the observation: 'It can perhaps be argued that the general practitioner is doomed. . . . But it may be specialized medicine rather than socialized medicine that represents the graver danger.'"

TOO PESSIMISTIC

If you talk to Victoria doctors who are not definitely identified with general practice or specialization, they'll probably suggest the Economist's viewpoint is too pessimistic. And they may refute the publication's conclusions with a simple and apparently valid explanation.

In the day of the specialist, the general practitioner is not an anachronism because the general practitioner is becoming more and more a specialist in general practice. That isn't as contradictory as it appears. The sweetest bit of medicine I've come across was a specialized job by a general practitioner. Among his patients was a family that included a large number of small children. Money was usually scarce in the house and the kids kept going down with the conventional ailments of children. The harassed mother wasn't pushed to a nervous breakdown, but she wasn't too far away from it.

As her nerves grew worse, things became tougher in the family. She couldn't keep up with the work and look after the sick youngsters too. With one in bed at home and another in the hospital with pneumonia a crack-up loomed as big as the grocery account.

EFFECTIVE PRESCRIPTION

When the doctor's bill was about due, the mother asked the family physician how much she owed him. In his own quiet way the physician suggested to the mother that she needed a washing machine more than she needed a doctor's bill. He prescribed it for her and watched with satisfaction as the mother regained her strength and composure. When she was back on her feet, things picked up around the home. She had more time for the kids and they didn't seem to be down with colds, flu, measles, scarlet fever and whooping cough quite so often.

Maybe it's standard practice for family doctor to prescribe washing machines. If it is, I haven't heard of it. But I do know that family doctors recognize the necessity of keeping mothers in good health if the family is to be kept sound.

Somehow or other, it seems to me that specialists in particular branches of medicine might not be as inclined to understand that as do the men who visit the home with their little black bags, have a cup of coffee occasionally at the kitchen table and carry their diagnoses into the family itself.

If I'm right, I like this kind of specialization for the general practitioner. And in any case, I want him first if things go wrong. He can pass me along to some expert when there's a technical job to do.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Getting Doctor Quickly

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

One of the greatest complaints against doctors is that when a patient wants one, he may not be able to get him for some time. A new invention is going to make things better. In several big U.S. cities they have just put in "Aircall," a private radio service for doctors and others. Each subscriber to the service is given a little pocket radio receiver and assigned a number on the air. The number goes out once every minute until the doctor answers.

One great advantage of this for the doctor is that when he drives 25 miles out into the country to see a patient, he won't get back to his office only to find that someone on a farm 23 or 25 miles out on the same road was trying to get him. I can remember when that used to happen to my general practitioner father, and then, tired as he was, he would have to take a fresh horse and start back out again.

Another advantage of the new technique is that now, when the doctor goes out on the golf course, it is a great comfort to him to know that none of his patients are trying desperately to reach him; he can really relax and enjoy his game. A man who is on call 24 hours out of the 24 must occasionally get a little rest.

WORK FOR THE INJURED

One of the great needs today is for giving useful remunerative work to the handicapped person. It is good for the nation. As I recently remarked, the Office of Vocational Rehabilitation in Washington recently spent $21,000,000 putting back to work 67,000 handicapped persons. These people are earning $116,000,000 and are adding more than 100,000,000 man-hours annually to the nation's productive effort.

According to the little magazine, "Performance," published by the President's Committee on Employment of the Physically Handicapped (August, 1953), about one-third of all those who are rehabilitated every year return to industry as skilled or semi-skilled workers. In some areas such as Detroit there is still great need for such skilled workers.

Each year about one-quarter of a million men and women become disabled because of industrial accidents, and as many as possible should be put back into industry. In 10 years, over 600,000 disabled veterans have been returned to productive life, many of them in the metal-working trades.

Many employers don't want to hire these rehabilitated persons because they fear they will be an extra hazard, or they may need much help and guidance. Other employers say this is not true. The statistics show that these men behave exactly like other workers except for the fact that a few have to give up and quit work.

Fortunately, now, in 42 states there are laws which make the employer liable only for damage for a particular accident and not for a total disability due largely to a previous injury.

According to the International Harvester Co. of Chicago, "If an applicant otherwise qualified for employment is physically fit to do the work for which he is being considered, without danger to himself or his fellow workers or the equipment, he may be employed." Under this policy the company has employed over 5,000 handicapped persons.

According to the committee, employers who hire handicapped persons report satisfaction with them. Some companies even employ the blind. For instance, in Cleveland there are 32 blind persons working for 34 metal-working plants. The Ford Motor Co. the General Electric Co. and the International Business Machines Corporation have outstanding records for hiring the handicapped.

MY TROUBLES WITH LETTERS

I cannot promise to answer letters unless a self-directed and stamped envelope is enclosed. It takes too long to figure out some names and addresses. I answer quickly the short, type-written letter; 10-page letters in poorly legible script are very likely to go unread; there isn't enough time in my already very busy day for reading them.

Much as I would like to help troubled people, I don't dare attempt any diagnosing or treating by mail. In many a case the making of a correct diagnosis is extremely difficult even when the physician can question the patient for an hour and examine him thoroughly.

Manitoba Makes Second Appeal For Nurses To Aid Polio Fight

WINNIPEG (BUP) — Manitoba called on retired and inactive nurses today to pool their skills in the winning battle against its polio epidemic.

A desperate shortage of nurses at King George Hospital here prompted health authorities to issue the second such appeal this month.

P. C. Bell, provincial health minister, appealed for more nurses October 10, but the isolation hospital said the appeal had "disappointing results."

Only a handful of volunteers contacted the nursing superintendent.

A total of 63 iron lungs were in use at the hospital, and a doctor said "we need at least one nurse to watch each iron lung patient. We could get along reasonably well with at least 30 more nurses."

The polio advisory committee reported that the total staff at the receiving centre for Manitoba's polio patients was "wholly inadequate."

Meanwhile, doctors on the prairies were confident that the number of cases would dwindle to a handful when cool fall weather set in. The southern prairies have been basking under an unusually warm spell for late October.

AWARDED $20,000

REGINA (CP) — A $20,000 judgment was awarded Tuesday to the widow and two-year-old daughter of Clifford P. Tanouye of Regina who died May 8 in hospital after an operation.

The judgment was against the estate of Dr. Desmond P. Harris, killed in a traffic accident the day after he administered anesthetic to Tanouye. A coroner's jury ruled Tanouye died from a gauze pack stuck in his throat. The pack was inserted as part of the anesthetic procedure.

OIL, GAS LEASE SALES

EDMONTON (CP) — The Alberta government Tuesday realized $4,995,264 from the year's third sale of petroleum and natural gas leases and reservation rights.

The sale, one of the largest cash bonus offers in seven years, continued today when bids were to be opened for 59 parcels of Crown reserve oil and gas leases. Monday's accepted bids brought to $17,984,548 the sum the Alberta government has received on such sales to date this year.

NEW RCAF CHAPLAINS

WINNIPEG (CP) — Two Protestant ministers were inducted into the chaplain service of the RCAF at station Winnipeg chapel, both veterans of the Second World War.

Flt. Lt. S. M. Parkhouse of Fergus, Ont., becomes chaplain of station Winnipeg. Flt. Lt. J. K. Goldie of Regina, formerly of Winnipeg, becomes chaplain at Whitehorse.

PORT ALBERNI—Women at MacMillan & Bloedel Camp A, Franklin River, following the lead of women at the company's Great Central camp, have formed their own fire brigade to protect the camp during the day while their husbands are at work. Fire chief is Mrs. Molly Bordeleau, but most important is Mrs. Lois Dudziak, who turns her home into a nursery and looks after youngsters while their mothers fight fire.

NANAIMO—Liberal leader Arthur Laidlaw, Archie Gibbs, Oak Bay M.L.A., and Gordon Gibson, M.L.A. for Lillooet, will attend the annual meeting of Nanaimo Central Liberal Association Friday at 8 p.m. in the Eagles' Hall. Douglas Greer is president.

COBBLE HILL—Three trustees of School District 65, who wish to see the unorganized portion of the district split from the Duncan-North Cowichan section, claim the rural area pays 55 per cent of the total costs of the district, with a much smaller number of students in school.

Dr. William Plenderleith, inspector, said Cowichan High School at Duncan had reached its capacity and a new school is needed. It might well be in the southern portion of the district, he said.

PORT ALBERNI—Mayor Loran E. Jordan has urged city council to investigate the possibility of establishing a cemetery in the city.

His action followed a boost in cemetery rates by Alberni of from $12 and $18 per plot for residents, and non-residents, respectively, to $15 and $25.

He said if Port Alberni gets its own cemetery "this corporation will not set one price for residents and another for non-residents."

CAMPBELL RIVER—Otto Dahlberg, 48, was reported in fair condition at Lourdes Hospital after having suffered a fractured skull at his work Monday. An employee of Salmon River

Logging Co. at Kelsey Bay, he was struck by a snag.

NANAIMO—A resolution urging that compensation be sought for civil defense workers responding to a civil emergency will be placed before the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention by Nanaimo city council. It was proposed Monday by Ald. John Thompson when Provincial Secretary W. B. Black advised that federal authorities have vetoed widening of compensation to include injuries suffered in civil disasters.

Kiwians Lack $8,000 for New Village Project

Funds on hand are $8,000 short of commitments for new construction at Kiwanis Village, chairman Glenn Hope told the club at an Empress luncheon Tuesday.

Sixteen additional modern dwellings for Victoria's aged couples are now under construction, but fund-raising activities have slowed for the duration of the Community Chest drive.

Oak Bay Kiwanis Club presented a cheque for $4,234 to the Kiwanis Village Society, representing funds collected earlier by a still incomplete canvass of the Oak Bay area.

Present from Oak Bay club were president Harold Webster and canvass committee chairman Bob Ferguson.

Victoria club president Hope said he did not foresee too much difficulty in finding the balance necessary before construction of the new units was completed.

Heart Attacks Predictable?

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Doctors soon may be able to predict the likelihood of heart attacks by studying the distribution of fat particles in blood serum.

Dr. William Zinn told an annual symposium on heart disease Tuesday that a good emulsification — even distribution — of fat particles indicates a good heart and good blood vessels in most cases.

Persons suffering from heart disease and those who have family histories of diabetes or heart trouble usually show a poor emulsification of fat in their blood serum, he said.

REJECT UNIFORM SINGAPORE (AP) — Singapore's 400 postmen threatened Monday to strike if the government tries to make them wear uniforms with red stripes down the side of the trousers. The postmen termed the new uniform more suitable for circus clowns than mail carriers.

PRESCOTT? SOUNDS LIKE VICTORIA

PRESCOTT, Ont. (CP).—Town council, outplayed in a financial feud with the public utilities commission, has decided to call it quits.

It began when the commission asked the town to pay a 10 per cent share of the salaries of three men working for both the PUC and the town. Council agreed, but raised the rental of the commission's town hall offices from $200 to $1,800 a year to make up the difference.

The PUC replied by doubling rentals on 106 fire hydrants from $2,650 to $5,300 a year. Council members agreed Tuesday night to stop the vicious circle. "We don't mind breaking even," said Councillor Douglas Laporte, "but they've gone away over us."

Sir John Gielgud Fined on Morals Count

LONDON (Reuters).—Sir John Gielgud, Shakespearean actor of international fame, today was fined £10 when he appeared in police court on a morals charge.

He was accused of persistently importuning male persons for an immoral purpose. On the charge sheet he was described as John Gielgud, 49, a clerk.

Magistrate E. R. Guest advised him to seek medical advice. Gielgud, a bachelor, was knighted last June for his contributions to the British theatre. His "Hamlet" is regarded as one of the greatest of all time.

Malan Would Call Vote to Determine Republic Proposal

BLOEMFONTEIN, South Africa (Reuters).—Premier Daniel Malan says the question of South Africa becoming a republic must be decided by a special general election.

Malan did not say whether he planned such an election in the near future. He said Tuesday the question could not be decided by an ordinary general election, which had to deal with many other issues.

It must be decided democratically—and not by violence and by such a substantial majority that the decision could not be reversed at a later election, he said.

use by contractors; absence of labor troubles locally.

He also stressed the value being obtained from monthly contractor-architect conferences at Vancouver attended by himself and VBIE vice-president W. B. Dillabough.

The jail is part of $15,000,000 worth of public buildings planned by B.C. government during the next three years.

Mr. Gagliardi told building contractors they'll have to "tighten their profit-belts." Economic circumstances and technological progress are producing a "settling down" in Canada's building boom, he said. But there's still a tremendous amount of building to be done to keep abreast of Canada's industrial and population growth.

"There'll be just as much cake but a little less icing" was Mr. Gagliardi's forecast of the building industry's future.

VBIE president Ed. McKinty, in his semi-annual report, noted growth in the association's membership, from 93 in February to 103 today; expansion of VBIE's plans' service and in its

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

And while the Cougars wrestle with their problems, today we have a first-hand report of Japanese wrestling from "Our Bess."

To sport page readers "Our Bess" is Elizabeth Forbes, Times social editor, who Monday returned from the land of rising sun.

But unlike several mat fans we know, Bess doesn't take her wrestling with Sake, or a reasonable facsimile thereof.

But let Bess tell it. It's so much easier that way.

"We were taking in a country fair and, when we saw hordes of Japanese pushing into an enclosure, we got curious.

"Sm-o-o-o" is the answer we got from the ticket seller. 'What's that?' I questioned Mary Russell of Vancouver. 'I'm sure he said Smoo, Mary answered. 'Doesn't sound decent,' said Joey Wilson of Victoria. 'Let's ask again,' I suggested. 'Sm-o-o-o,' the ticket seller said.

"Just then the gate opened and Mary took a look inside. 'Why, it's SUMO,' she shrieked.

"'Hai, hai,' said the ticket seller (meaning yes, yes)."

The girls paid their $1.50 (450 yen) and went inside. The seats were straw mats. With six people to a mat, Bess and her friends found themselves directly in front of the sandbag ring, 15 feet in diameter on a raised platform about two feet off the ground.

Sumo-Through Bessie's Eyes

But let Bess continue:

"The ring had a roof decorated in blue and red bunting and supported by four posts at the corners.

"Two teams of four players were entered in each match and the players (competitors) sat cross-legged in teams on opposite sides of the ring. Then one player from each side was called to the centre by the referee.

"After saluting each other with a sharp clap of the hands, they retired to the edge of the platform to rinse their mouths with water from a tub and to sprinkle salt on the ground in a purification ceremony.

"Then, facing each other, they flexed their arm muscles slowly, kicked out their legs, one at a time, and almost parallel with their waist level, pawed the ground with their feet, advanced stiffly to the centre of the ring and, still facing each other, squatted.

"Still squatting, they put their clenched hands on the ground and eyed each other like a couple of gamecocks. From this squatting position they are supposed to rise up at the same time or go through the preliminaries all over again."

Bess then explains that in the old days, it is said that sometimes the rising business took 30 minutes or more. However, modern rules call for a five-minute time limit.

"No eye gouging here," continues Bess. "Just a good grip, a slight strain, a misjudged point and when one or the other touches the floor of the ring with any part of his body but his feet, or is shoved or lifted out of the ring, the match is over."

They really dress it up, too, says Bess. Judges, timekeepers and the like are distinguished by the huge red and blue rosettes they wear. And with them was a grey-robed priest, for Sumo actually is based on a religious ceremony. Contestants were garbed in elaborate loin cloths, arranged in amazing twists and knots from a wide waist-band.

Friendly Like the Japanese

As these were only enthusiastic townfolk and villagers who take up Sumo as part of their every-day life, and university students trying to meet expenses (and not the real professionals) Bess imagines that, as Sumo goes, some of the performances were spotty (even as they are here at times).

And the similarity exists, too, in that the town and country folk, out for a day's fun (at the fair if you like, for that's where the matches took place) really make a day of it, several "having big bottle of cheap Sake which they passed around to anyone within arm's length."

"Why," says Bess, "we even had a neat little farmer, all dressed up in his best suit, come across from his mat and sit down beside us. He had his bottle of Sake and in his very best Japanese offered us a drink.

"We tried to look modest, but pleased at the same time making it perfectly plain that we did not drink—in public" (Why Bess!)

"He looked up mournfully, shrugged his shoulders and waved the bottle hopefully under our noses again. Then quite cheerfully he left, waving his way back to his friends, taking the bottle of Sake with him of course."

Bess also explains that in seeing "Sm-o-o-o" in the rough, she thoroughly enjoyed it, and also that in the big professional Sumo tournaments which last 15 days, three times a year, and draw upwards of 16,000 fans, scores make determine the competitors' promotion in rank and salary.

But what Bess didn't explain is how did she and her friends know that the big bottles of Sake that the townfolk were packing were of the CHEAP variety. Bess . . .!!!!

But in fairness to Bess everyone should know that the good Sake comes in small bottles. Right, Bess?

RELIGIOUS CONTROVERSY AVOIDED

Football Body Declines To Force Sunday Issue

HALIFAX (CP)—The entire executive of the Nova Scotia Junior Football League, headed by a Roman Catholic priest, has resigned following criticism of Sunday games by a Protestant group.

Rev. Daniel Rourke, the president, and other executive members said they resigned rather than stir up a religious controversy.

A revised schedule, including Sunday games, was drawn up by a new executive headed by Lt.-Cmdr. S. MacCormick.

Criticism of Sunday games came from the Halifax presbytery of the United Church of Canada.

Cmdr. A. Pratt, new vice-president, said entertainment for service personnel is "a major problem . . . it is not a commercial enterprise . . . and with over 1,000 men to care for on Sunday it is an outlet."

Rev. A. Mowatt, chief Protestant chaplain at the nearby Shearwater navy air base, was named a committee of one to meet the presbytery to discuss a possible agreement.

REARDON'S COMING GIVES 'REAY OF HOPE'

Ken Must Have Seen the Scores

By BILL WALKER

He's coming back.

Ken Reardon, Montreal Canadiens' ambassador at large, will arrive here Thursday.

Trouble-shooter and aide-de-camp to manager Frank Selke of the Habs, Reardon's trip is unsolicited by the Cougars, but undoubtedly concerns them.

For Reardon only comes west when the Montreal chatters and their deeds, or lack of them, are concerned.

"Perhaps he's seen the scores," general manager Fred Hutchinson of the Cougars said Tuesday when informing Cougar coach Billy Reay of the news.

The Cougars, it is common knowledge, have lost five of their first six games in the Western Hockey League and are faced with their first road trip to the Prairies next week.

And apparently Reardon wants to be on hand for this first crucial junket of the still young season.

Two years ago Reardon paid his initial visit to the Cougars, several of whom were Montreal owned, as several are now.

After a look at the club, which then was languishing in the league cellar, and probably a few well-chosen words to the players, he announced publicly:

"They'll make the playoffs."

This the Cougars did, winning the right to sixth place and the final playoff position on the last day of the season at Seattle. From there the Cougars defeated New Westminster Royals in the semi-

Olson 11-5 Favorite; Scribes Sour on Turpin

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP)—Carl (Bobo) Olson, the hustling Hawaiian* from San Francisco, holds firmly as the 11-to-5 favorite to whip Britain's moody Randy Turpin in their 15-round middleweight title fight at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Although his strange training methods have been as unorthodox as his awkward fighting style, the 25-year-old British Negro said flatly: "I'll prove I was right. I'll win and bring back the championship to England."

Olson, poker-faced and quiet, said calmly: "I'll take the title. Then he left the rest of the talking, as usual, to manager-Sig Flaherty.

"Olson will win," was the studied comment of Ray Robinson, who fought them both twice. The two will battle for the crown the great Sugar Ray abdicated nine months ago.

"Olson is aggressive and very busy," said Robinson. "He gives you no room and he thinks fast. Turpin can't go back. I found that out. Olson will keep coming."

Even BRITONS DUBIOUS

Even the visiting British writers and London promoter Jack Solomons have soured on their headstrong Randy.

"I don't approve the way Turpin has trained," said Solomons. "He should have boxed more. His timing is off—if it goes 15 rounds Olson will win."

Turpin hasn't boxed since last Thursday. Despite his peculiar tactics and the big odds against him, the Briton's name is still magic at the box office.

The International Boxing Club opened its windows today with more than $100,000 in the till. IBC managing director Harry Markson said the scrap will lure about 17,000 fans and about $175,000. Radio-television receipts will add another $60,000 to the pot. Each fighter will collect 30 per cent or about $57,000.

BIG DRAWING CARD

The last time he was here Turpin drew a tremendous 61,370 throng and $767,626 at the Polo Grounds for his title defense against Robinson.

Off their performances against Robinson and their overall records, Turpin should be no worse than even money. But he can't punch with his record to night. He beat Robinson once and was stopped in 10 rounds the second time. He has won eight straight since the Robinson defeat and his record is 49-3-1 with 33 knockouts. Olson, 25 like Turpin, has won 10 in a row since he dropped a close 15-rounder to Sugar Ray in San Francisco March 13, 1952. In their first clash, Robinson stopped Bobo in 12 rounds in '50.

Former Cage Stars To Coach McMorran's

With two former members of the Dominion champion Dominions in charge, McMorran's juvenile boys' basketball team will hold their first workout at the Saanich and Suburban Basketball League season at Lake Hill gym Thursday night at 7:30.

Gordie Patterson has been secured as team coach, replacing Noel Andrew, who will be in charge of the Cordova Bay Community Hall program, while Alex McKeachie will assist Patterson.

Canucks Win Again, Flyers Lose Again

Vancouver Moves Into WHL Lead

Canucks 2, Flyers 1

Vancouver Canucks, breezing along undefeated in the seven-team loop, into first place, kept two streaks—one good, one bad—going on Tuesday night when they edged the Edmonton Flyers 2-1 in Vancouver.

The game moved Canucks, the only undefeated club in the seven-team loop, into first place, two points ahead of Calgary Stampede. Vancouver has only one blemish on the record, a 3-3 tie with Seattle Bombers.

Canucks have won five of their six games by a single goal. The Flyers have been winless in eight games. They have lost five and tied three.

Tuesday, after a slow start, the Flyers outlasted Canucks by a wide margin in the second period and stayed in contention all the way.

Campanella Tops AP Poll

Brooks Place Three on All-Star Club

NEW YORK (AP)—Roy Campanella, Brooklyn's slugging catcher, heads the 1953 major league all-star team, one of the strongest squads ever put together.

Campanella, whose 41 home runs and 142 runs batted in are the highest ever reached by a big league catcher, drew all but five of the 179 votes returned by the Baseball Writers' Association of America in response to the Associated Press' eighth annual all-star poll.

The team boasts seven .300 hitters, including the two league batting champions, the RBI and slugging kings, a home-run leader, four players who have hit 30 or more homers and five who have pounded home 100 or more runs.

The pitchers are Robin Roberts of Philadelphia Phillies and Warren Spahn of Milwaukee Braves. Each won 23 games to tie for the most in the majors. Roberts beat out Washington's Bob Porterfield for right-handed honors, received 132 votes to 30. Spahn easily topped Chicago's Billy Pierce for left-handed honors, 116 to 40.

FOUR HOLD-OVERS

Six of the 10 players are new to the all-stars. The four hold-overs from 1952 include Phil Rizzuto, shortstop; Al Rosen, third base; Stan Musial, left field and Roberts. Musial made the squad for the seventh time, missing only once since the all-star team was inaugurated in 1946.

The world champion Yankees placed only one man, Rizzuto, on the team while Brooklyn Dodgers, whom they defeated in the world series, placed three men. They are outfielders Duke Snider and Carl Furillo in addition to Campanella.

THE ALL-STAR TEAM:

First base: Mickey Vernon, Senators .337.
Second base: Red Schoendienst, Cardinals .342.
Third base: Al Rosen, Indians .336.
Shortstop: Phil Rizzuto, Yankees .271.
Left field: Stan Musial, Cardinals .357.
Center field: Duke Snider, Dodgers .336.
Right field: Carl Furillo, Dodgers .344.
Catcher: Roy Campanella, Dodgers .312.
Pitcher righthanded: Robin Roberts, Phillies .23-16.
Pitcher lefthanded: Warren Spahn, Braves .23-7.

Barons Bop Warriors

CLEVELAND (CP)—Glen Sonmor and Jack Stoddard, former New York Rangers, accounted for five goals as Cleveland Barons swamped Syracuse Warriors 8-1 Tuesday night in the home opener of the American Hockey League season before 5,788 fans.

Sonmor bagged three goals and assisted in another while Stoddard notched a pair and had two assists. Eddie Olson, Jack Gordon and Fred Glover scored the other Cleveland goals.

Rolly Miles Threat For WIFU Scoring Title

WINNIPEG (CP)—A speedy Negro halfback from an obscure North Carolina college piled up five touchdowns in two week-end games to vault into second place in the Western Inter-provincial Football Union individual scoring, nine points behind leader Bud Korchak of Winnipeg.

In the best individual performance of the season, Rolly Miles of Edmonton Eskimos scored three majors against Winnipeg Blue Bombers Saturday night, then came back with two more Monday night against Saskatchewan Roughriders to run his season's point total to 55.

Statistics compiled by the Canadian Press, however, show Korchak collected seven points in the week-end doubleheader to raise his total to 64 on one touchdown, nine field goals, five singles and 27 converts. Both Korchak and Miles were named to last year's western all-star team. All clubs have one game left in the 16-game schedule, with Eskos at home to Bombers Saturday.

Wounded Bear More Sporting Than Deer to Crippled Hunter

YUBA CITY, Calif. (UP)—The next time Ryan Arritt goes hunting he'll stick to deer. Bears, he finds, are too tough—especially for a man who can't run.

Arritt, a cripple who has been confined to a wheel chair for 40 years, told Tuesday how he fought and won a deadly battle with a wounded bear while deer hunting at Butte Meadows last Sunday.

Arritt said his hunting companions, as is his custom, made him comfortable in some blankets and left him in a likely spot with a rifle and a bag of cartridges.

The 50-year-old paralyzed hunter waited two hours with out sighting a deer, then spotted a 225-pound black bear about 60 feet away.

"I've seen bear around before, but I usually don't bother them," he said. "I don't know why I took a shot at this one."

"I had four shells in my gun. The first one caught him in the shoulder and he went down with a roar. Then he got up and charged me. The next one hit him in the front leg. As he came down the bank, I got him just under the right eye."

Arritt said he fired his last shot, hitting the animal in the hind leg.

"Then he got up and came at me again. I tried to get my shell bag open, but my hands were so cold I couldn't work the zipper. When he got about a foot and a half away, I poked him off with my gun barrel."

"He started to circle me. He'd come close and I'd poke him off. Then he'd come close again."

"The blood spattered all over me. I threw a couple of rocks at him, and then I managed to rip open my shell bag."

Arritt said he loaded his rifle and, when the bear came in close, "I let him have it between the eyes."

"He was pretty dead then," he said.

TIME OUT!

"Lucky stiff! That rookie gets to play the whole game while we just sit on the bench!"

CCF Leadership Disappointing, Soeds Lack Lustre—Gibbs

The four Liberals in the B.C. Legislature comprise a small, strong fighting unit, in the opinion of one of its members, Archie Gibbs, reeve of Oak Bay. But while the Liberal group was happy in its associations, the CCF was disappointed in the leadership of Arnold Webster, he believed.

He considered the Social Credit back-benchers lack calibre.

Mr. Gibbs was substituting for Liberal leader Arthur Laing, addressing the annual meeting of the Saanich Liberal Association in Liberal headquarters Tuesday night.

DISTURBED

The Oak Bay reeve said he was disturbed at much of the legislation passed at the session. Milk decontrol was a vital matter that would hurt the farmers, he said, while 90 per cent of the people had expected taxes to be reduced according to pre-election Soeds promises and were faced instead with bill increasing spending.

He criticized the government for paying for public works out of current revenue instead of following sound financial practices and borrowing to spread the payments over a period of years to be met by those who would benefit from it.

"At least," he said "there will be plenty of ammunition" to defeat Finance Minister Gundersen in the forthcoming Victoria by-election."

Another guest, R. Grant, president of the Esquimalt-Saanich Federal Liberal Association, backed Mr. Gibbs in urging Liberals of all ridings in the Greater Victoria area to organize for a Liberal victory in Victoria.

Arthur Ash, former MLA, was elected president of the association, and Owen Cassidy, secretary-treasurer. Steve Chalmut, Alex Derman, S. Gordon and James France were named vice-presidents.

FIRST PRIVATE TV STATION BEGINS BROADCAST TODAY

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP)—Canada's first privately-owned television station went into operation Tuesday night here. CKSO-TV officially began broadcasting with a series of fully-controlled test patterns. The first films will be shown at irregular intervals today and for the balance of the week. The first regular programs will begin telecasting Sunday.

Prior to the opening the only television stations operating in Canada were three CBC stations in Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal.

Tax Returns Evidence? High Court Will Rule

OTTAWA (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada will be asked to rule at its forthcoming session whether income tax of-ficers may be required to produce a person's income tax return in court at a criminal trial.

Hitherto, income tax returns have been regarded as secret. But in a majority decision last year, the British Columbia Appeal Court gave a judicial opinion that they may be produced as evidence at a trial.

The judicial opinion was sought by the B.C. government, after the refusal of Vancouver income tax officials to produce in the B.C. Supreme Court the income returns of 27 men charged with keeping betting houses.

The federal government is appealing this judicial opinion to Canada's highest tribunal. This is one of 37 cases slated to be heard by the nine judges at sessions of the court getting under way today.

The tax-returns case involves the B.C. Appeal Court opinion that the returns must be produced on order of the judge to allow the court to determine whether their contents are admissible and relevant as evidence and whether they are prejudicial or detrimental to public welfare.

Also involved is the Appeal Court opinion that the Crown or the accused may subpoena tax officials to produce the returns and testify orally so the court may decide whether they should be used as evidence.

Social Justice or Death by War
Man's Choice Says Dr. Chisholm

War would destroy civilization unless people shoulder their responsibilities, over 300 persons attending a public meeting Tuesday were warned by Dr. Brock Chisholm, retired director general of the World Health Organization of the United Nations.

"The atom bomb is now obsolete," he said. "More powerful weapons have been developed during the past few years capable of destroying millions of people at one time. The time has come for us to do something soon or else the world will face disaster."

Dr. Chisholm's address is the first he has made since he retired from the UN health organization. The meeting sponsored by the Victoria Branch of the United Nations Association was under the chairmanship of Harry Hodges, president.

UN ONLY HOPE

Dr. Chisholm described the United Nations as the "latest and only hope" for the survival of man.

"Man has always fought man," he said, "but he has never been as efficient in the art of killing people as he is today."

He said the United Nations was formed because man felt that something must be done to change his behavior for his own good and survival.

"We can no longer close our eyes to the fact that millions and millions of people in some parts of the world have never enough to eat," he said.

Dr. Chisholm said that these millions of people are slowly being educated, and although still starving, will never again take things lying down when part of the world is living in unbelievable luxury.

He said the world food problem should be the concern of everyone.

One of the greatest menaces to world peace, Dr. Chisholm said was the "person who just lives comfortably for himself" and takes no interest in his community and its problems.

Another type of person whom the world could do without, he said, "is the individual who lends himself to Chauvinism and shouts 'my country right or wrong I fight for thee'."

"This type of person is a real menace," he said.

Dr. Chisholm said the hope of the world rested largely on "new parents, school teachers, parent-teacher's association, churches."

TEACHERS SPEAK OUT

He said one sign which showed that people are changing is the increasing practice of school teachers speaking in public.

"This is a good sign," he said. "A few years ago a school teacher would have been fired by her school board for speaking in public and expressing some of her ideas."

While the United Nations is faced with many problems, he said, headway has been made towards fuller co-operation between the nations of the world.

Dr. Chisholm said one of the ways people can help the cause of world peace is by taking interest and an active part in the affairs and problems of his community.

He warned people against "feeling virtuous" because they are ahead of other people or more successful than other nations.

"It is dangerous to be too far ahead of the procession of civilization," he said.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Just in time for the Halloween party season, a delightful story has been started on the rounds by that young-man-about-Brentwood, Bill Artus.

(At least, he started it as far as I'm concerned, so don't bother to write and say you heard it in your infancy.)

Well, it seems there was a certain knight in the days of King Arthur who was allergic to horses.

Every time he climbed up on a charger to meet an opposition knight in deadly combat for the hand of a lady faire, he began to sneeze.

And he would sneeze so hard, he would sneeze himself right out of the saddle.

As you can see, this left the poor knight in a parious state of mind, and it did not gain him any ladies faire, either.

Well, kindly King Arthur heard about the allergic knight, and felt sorry for him. So he had Merlin look into the matter for him, and Merlin, being a magician, simply went to his own personal psychiatrist for advice.

"This should be simple," said the psychiatrist, "so he doesn't like horses, what animals does he like?"

Consulting his pocket-size crystal ball, Merlin said: "Dogs."

"Proves he's smart," approved the psychiatrist. "Well, I told you this problem is simple. We just equip him with a dog instead of a horse."

"But wouldn't he look funny, riding on a dog?" asked Merlin.

"No funnier than he does sneezing himself off a horse," said the psychiatrist. Besides, there is a new King Size brand of dogs on the market now. Longer, higher, and fonder of children than ever before. Get him a good BIG dog."

And so it was arranged, and all went well for many years.

Until, one stormy evening as the wind howled round the turrets of King Arthur's castle, a knock was heard at the door.

King Arthur himself hurried to the door—he couldn't bear to think of anyone caught out in such a storm—and to his surprise, he saw the allergic knight, hanging weakly to the door jamb.

"What's the trouble?" asked King Arthur.

"I have an assignment to rescue a damsel in distress," gasped the allergic knight, weakly. "And I have misplaced my dog."

"Dear, dear, this is bad," said King Arthur. "Damsels in distress are high priority items. Come with me, I'll see what I can do."

King Arthur dashed into the main hall of the castle, where all the serfs and fives and drums were gathered, and shouted: "A dog! A dog! My kingdom for a dog!"

But alas! In all that vast gathering, not one dog was present.

The wind howled and the snow snowed and the blizzard waited outside as King Arthur pulled at his beard, and looked at the allergic knight, and wondered what to do.

Finally, a timid scullery maid appeared.

"Please sir," she said, "I have a dog. He isn't much of a dog, but you are welcome to borrow him."

King Arthur looked down at the unkempt, tiny mongrel whining at her feet, and with great disgust cried:

"Why, I wouldn't send a knight out on a dog like this."

And so they all stayed in and watched the snowstorms on TV.

Installation of dust collecting apparatus on B.C. Cement Company kilns at Bamberton is proceeding on schedule, it was announced today.

You're wrong, says Weatherman William Mackie.

DIVER BUSY

Burned Ship To Be Raised Thursday

Pacific Salvage Ltd. plans to start raising the Salvage King at 8 p.m. Thursday.

The 164-foot vessel sank Monday noon at its berth on the Evans Coleman & Johnson Bros. pier after firemen pumped tons of water into her forecabin in a vain attempt to put out a fire that burned for almost five hours.

Salvage experts expect tide conditions to be ideal Thursday evening to lift the ship from its resting place on mud of the harbor bottom.

Jack "Jumper" Collins, company diver, is busy sealing all ports, hatches, and companionways below the water level. When the ship is watertight, huge pumps aboard her sister ship from Vancouver, the Salvage Queen, will be used to drain the submerged hull.

Examination by the diver showed her structure is sound and "resting comfortably."

George Unwin and Albert W. Smith, company representatives, said today they hope to have the ship raised "by the end of the week." They have charge of the operation.

Her sister ship, the Ss. Salvor of Vancouver, will be here tonight to take the place of the Salvage King, they said.

Refloating of the ship will mark the beginning of a long repair job.

Electrical wiring will have to be replaced, and delicate electrical equipment must be repaired or renewed. Engines also must be overhauled.

Milkmen Fight For V.I. Market

Local Producers Resent Quotas For Fraser Valley Dairy Farms

Vancouver Island milk producers today were scheduled to seek indefinite postponement of B.C. Milk Board regulations that will give mainland producers a permanent share of the Island market.

Biting criticism of milk board policy is contained in a brief scheduled for delivery at a milk board hearing in Ladysmith today by Henry G. Robinson, secretary-manager of the Vancouver Island Dairy-men's Association.

The protest prompted by regulations accompanying the government's milk decontrol order—that dairymen claim, will give the Fraser Valley Milk Producers' Association an unfair and permanent share of the market here.

His brief stated dairymen would comply with the Minister of Agriculture's request to give regulations a fair trial, with the understanding that if they did not work the milk board would recommend changes.

"We are prepared to do this in most cases, but there are one or two regulations we cannot accept, because they are absolutely contrary to the spirit in which the regulations were to be set up," his brief asserted.

"For instance, 'to endeavor to increase the consumption of milk while still guaranteeing the farmer that he would suffer no loss.' It is impossible to reconcile that statement with the giving away on a permanent basis a share of this Island's market to a group of producers from another area.

On favored terms as follows: "Our quota is based on our three lowest months, and theirs on three of their highest; we have to obey the Milk Act regarding grading before being granted a license, and they do not; we can ship milk to only one dealer without permission from the board that is almost impossible to obtain, and they can ship to every dealer in B.C. If the dealer will take their milk this winter.

"We must deliver milk to the plant without processing or standardizing, and they have done both; we must pay the freight rate to the dealer's plant, and they deliver it to the nearest dock.

"If we are short we cannot buy from a neighbor, but must sell from our cows on our own farm. They can pool their milk and never be short.

"We ask that the board issue a directive putting our suggested changes into effect and in the meantime, so that the Island producer can plan ahead; we ask that quotas to outside organizations be postponed indefinitely on the grounds that we were given no warning whatever that these changes were to be made."

Counting of ballots will begin Thursday afternoon, he said.

The men agreed to the strike vote to back up their demands for a 10-cent hourly wage increase, rejected by a conciliation board majority report.

Charles Peck, union business agent, said the final vote will be about 98 per cent complete.

He said essential services will be maintained in the event of a strike, but that no decision has been made regarding other services.

Two-Year-Old Crushed Under Backing Truck

Screams Stopped Shocked Driver

A two-year-old boy was seriously injured when hit by a heavy truck today near his home on Mason Street. Little Stephen Carl Steffler, 1145 Mason Street, is reported in "fair" condition at St. Joseph's Hospital with a broken leg, other possible fractures, and suffering extreme shock.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steffler.

City police said the boy was struck by a Heaney's oil truck being backed east on Mason by William Edwards, 3142 Somerset.

Edwards told police he saw only some dogs near a large cardboard box lying flat in the centre of the narrow street while he was making deliveries in the neighborhood.

Edwards said he was backing up and on feeling a bump and hearing a child scream thought he had hit a dog.

The driver said he was shocked to see the boy near the cardboard box when he went to investigate, he told officers.

City Sees High Costs

Victoria city hall officials joined many B.C. manufacturers today in criticizing the provincial government's new school financing plan.

While industrialists complain at paying the new levy on machinery, municipal officials complain at collection costs.

Although the legislation requires manufacturing concerns to do their own tax assessing, "it will still cost the city about $20,000 to implement the scheme and more each year to keep it going," said Dennis A. Young, city comptroller.

"The tax may cost B.C. municipalities half a million dollars for a million-dollar gain in an expensive way of getting money," he added.

City assessor, Alfred G. Joyce, said the tax will call for new accounting equipment and operators.

"Our calculations will be doubled."

He did not think the system of the manufacturer doing his own assessing would be permanent.

MACHINERY LACKING

"We don't have the appraisal machinery, men skilled in appraising machinery of the varied types they would encounter. It may be three or four years, but eventually the government will provide an assessment schedule."

"Then we will be able to check each plant."

He pointed out that the act gives assessors the right to examine company records and remove them when necessary.

The government, which suggested the system of assessment by machinery owners, already uses the plan in unorganized territory where the machinery levy now is in force.

NEWLY APPROVED

The government's equalization legislation was given final approval during the session just concluded. It calls for taxation of machinery for the first time, to provide additional revenue to finance school costs.

Manufacturers will be required to submit a sworn affidavit setting out the value of machinery in their plants. Assessment department officials will then check these reports progressively, probably at four-year intervals.

Private funeral services will be held Thursday for Mrs. Catherine Mitchell, founder and active member of the John Howard Society of Vancouver Island, who died Monday at her home, 2171 Granite Street. She was 56.

Wife of Dr. W. E. M. Mitchell, she organized the group for aiding men released from prison in 1936 and for many years devoted her time to the society's voluntary case work. She served four years as president, stepping down from that office only last year.

Born in New Zealand, she was married in London, England, in 1922, and came to Victoria with her husband in 1926.

In the hungry thirties, she conducted an almost single-handed crusade for the unemployed, and offered many men assistance when they found no help elsewhere.

She made a study of drug addition and penal reform. Her views won her wide recognition and respect. She was invited frequently to address local groups, and was offered a top post in a rehabilitation institution set up by the New Zealand government. She did not accept the offer.

Besides her husband, she is survived by a daughter, Dr. P. A. M. van der Esch, an historian, now here, but whose home is Paris, and two grandchildren.

ACCIDENT VICTIM LAURADA JONES

Death Probe Delayed for Key Witnesses

Inquest in the death of Miss Laura Jane Jones, 55, almost instantly killed when struck by a panel delivery truck on Gorge Road last Saturday night, was adjourned today for lack of key witnesses.

The coroner's inquiry will continue October 28.

At that time the driver of the truck, Frank Lane, 160 Gorge Road East, and his passenger at the time of the accident, Edward Nicholson, RCN, will have been released from hospital.

Lane suffered head cuts and Nicholson a broken leg.

Coroner Dr. E. C. Hart swore a jury today at Chaplin's mortuary. It heard how a truck struck Miss Jones, while she was crossing Gorge Road, near Qu'Appelle, with her small dog in her arms. The dog was so badly hurt it had to be destroyed.

Police witnesses estimate Miss Jones was thrown 40 feet by the impact.

VANCOUVER-BORN

Miss Jones, Vancouver-born, had been in Victoria for the past five years and was employed by the T. Eaton Company. The body was identified by an old friend, Samuel G. Evans. He had not seen her for 16 months, he told the jury, but at that time her eyesight and health were good.

Funeral from Chaplin's Chapel will be held Friday.

Jurors are: Louis Pedneault, 3501 Saanich Road (foreman); Howard Sadler, 1550 Rowan; Ronald Stone, 2639 Cedar-Hill Road; William Miller, 3344 Oak; George C. Moore, 2835 Nanaimo, and William Ward, 3179 Tillicum Road.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Add Value to Your Gift... Choose Wrappings Carefully

By PENNY SAVER

Make it pretty! Y'know, tasteful selection of gift wrappings means a lot... especially if the gift is small. You may be giving but a couple of hankies, but if they are carefully wrapped in paper adorned with dainty pansies (symbolic of thoughts), the gift will mean so much more to the recipient. It's the sentiment that counts! Pansy paper is 35 cents a packet. Complemented by plain mauve satin ribbon (10 cents), and the gift is complete!

I don't know if gardenias have any special significance, but you'll agree with me, I know, when I say that if we were selecting the "top ten" in flowers, the gardenia would be among them! Imagine the creamy blooms, touched with dew, scattered across gift wrapping paper. They looked so real, that I thought I could smell their exotic perfume. Also priced at 35 cents, I would choose a plain white satin ribbon for this paper. Anything else would distract from the beauty of the flowers.

If you fancy roses (another favorite), you have a wide choice. My selection was called "midnight rose." Your choice of pink or yellow roses in full bloom on a jet black background... striking, to say the least! Tags on these packages say 25 cents.

If you are among the folks who buy wrappings in quantities, you may benefit from this suggestion. For $1.49, you can purchase a collection of tissues, ribbon, seals, cards and tags. In the sets you get a wide variety of wrappings and paper, cards and ribbons selected to combine perfectly! There are 12 different designs in the paper, as well as some plain tissue; 90 assorted seals; 10 assorted tags; 10 enclosure cards and three lots of ribbon. Get yours now, while the selection is still good, is my advice!

Dark Circles Under Eyes Signal for Health Measures

Dark circles are the bane of many a woman's existence. Sometimes these seem to be inherited and nothing can be done about them. However, there are other causes which should be investigated.

We all know that illness can cause these. If they have appeared suddenly you should investigate your daily living habits. It might also be wise to have a physical examination to be sure that you are sound—organically and systematically. However these more often come from poor health habits.

Lack of sleep, malnutrition, fatigue and extreme underweight, can cause them. Plan a real health schedule and stick to it. Be sure that you eat correctly and regularly. Do not let anything interfere with your sleep. You probably should have at least eight hours a night. Take short rest periods during the day. If you are underweight these measures will help you gain.

I have a strong feeling that outdoor life and mild exercise are great helps. Take brisk walks. When you are walking keep up a regular stride which will stir up circulation, and breathe deeply of the fresh air. Stop before you become fatigued.

Many folks are nervous and tense so that they do not sleep well at night and do not utilize their food as they should. In these cases mild relaxing exercises will be most helpful. Do a few of these before going to bed at night. Here is one. Stand tall. Bend from the waist, letting your trunk, head, and arms, drop down toward the floor. Remain this way while you bounce up and down a little as though you had a spring-in-your-spine. Feel limp—with no tension in the arms, shoulders or head.

Another: Stand erect. Raise your arms sideward—upward with straight elbows. As you do this rise high on the toes and breath in. Reach as high as you can. Now slowly lower your arms to your sides, exhale, and return heels to the floor. Do this exercise slowly. Get into bed. Before even trying to go to sleep stretch lazily and in all directions. Stretch with your arms and your legs, and twist, until you feel that you have pulled every muscle in your body. You should feel like yawning as you do this one. Do it in a yawn manner.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Exercises for Relaxing," send a stamped self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 24 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Vases of chrysanthemums decorated St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church for the recent double-ring wedding ceremony which united Margaret Ann Wilkie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wilkie, Greenock, Scotland, with Charles Reid, Victoria, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Reid, Glasgow, Scotland. Rev. J. L. W. McLean officiated and during signing of the register C. C. Warren played "Because." Alex Stephen gave the bride in marriage.

A strapless gown of white nylon net over satin topped with a redingote en train of French lace was worn by the charming bride. Her fingertip veil filmed from a Juliet cap edged with a wreath of orange blossoms and lily of the valley. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and stephanotis and wore the groom's gift, a golden locket.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Charles Buckley, who was groomed in orchid nylon net over taffeta trimmed with ruching and lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of pale yellow carnations and wore a spray of flowers in her hair.

Alex Irvine was best man, and ushers were John Weiden and Andrew Smith.

A three-tier wedding cake decorated with miniature Scottish flags and topped with tiny bride and groom was cut by the couple at the reception at 802 Esquimalt Road.

Telegrams were received from parents of the bride and groom in Scotland. Mrs. A. Stephen received guests and Andrew Smith proposed the toast to the bride.

Timberline Lodge, Mt. Hood, Ore., is the honeymoon destination. For travelling, Mrs. Reid chose a dress of air force blue faille and a poodle cloth coat. She wore a navy velvet hat, matching accessories and a corsage of tea roses. Mr. and Mrs. Reid will live at 516 Michigan Street.

On the occasion of their 20th wedding anniversaries, Mr. and Mrs. J. Law and Mr. and Mrs. E. Aldred entertained about 40 guests, Saturday evening, at the home of the latter couple, 1845 Fern Street. The evening was spent in games and music with Mr. Bernie Law acting as master of ceremonies. Mrs. Dorothy Davey was soloist. The drawing room was prettily decorated with flowers by Mrs. D. Hunt.

AS WE LIVE

Late Marrying Involves Risk of Invalidism

By ELIZABETH B. HURLLOCK, PhD

As people become elderly there is always the possibility of invalidism. The woman who wrote the following letter should take this into consideration:

Hurllock husband, especially if you were married when you were both young.

(Q) "I have met a retired man, 20 years older than I, and a widower for seven years. He has fallen deeply in love with me and has asked me to marry him. I am not in love with him but security does mean something when one is a widow and no longer young. His health is somewhat precarious. He has had seven heart attacks in the past 10 years. What would your advice be in regard to my problem?"

(A) As age advances, the type of love one experiences is likely to change. You could not expect to have the same feelings for this man (or any elderly person) that you had for your husband, especially if you were married when you were both young.

Respect, congeniality, and similarity of interests are usually the points of greatest concern when two people who are no longer young think of remarriage. Your friend could be a delightful companion as well as a source of security.

However, his poor health is something you should give serious consideration. He may have survived seven heart attacks in the past 10 years but he is no longer as young as he was. If he should have another attack, he might not live or he might be seriously invalided.

Before you make any decision about marrying him, ask him to have a complete physical check-up by a competent doctor, informing the doctor of his intention of marrying. Let the doctor predict what effect marriage will have on him.

If he should have a heart attack that would kill him or seriously invalid him you would be no better off than you are now. In the latter case, you would have the burden of caring for him and the security you had hoped for might readily vanish as his invalidism ate up his savings. Watch your step before you take action.

If you have a problem about family or friend, ask Dr. Hurllock to help you. Write in care of this newspaper.

Between Ourselves

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Bessie Forbes, Times Women's Editor, has just returned from a two-months' visit to Japan writing articles for Times readers.

My last week in Japan!

A new moon silhouetted against a velvet black sky. Flares, from a ring of thatched-roofed boats riding on the Nagara River! Blazing fires in iron baskets on the knife-edged piers of ancient cormorant boats! Birds diving, swimming and catching aya, a tiny, silver trout-like fish!

Vancouverite Mary Russell, Joey Wilson and I arrived mid-day in Gifu, where cormorant fishing has been going on for hundreds of years. We drove directly to our inn, the Nagarakan.

Hot towels and tea bowls were whisked quickly into our room and soon we were relaxing after a train ride from Osaka. Sipping tea and listening to the river chuckling at the stone quay that stretched along the road in front of the inn to a graceful arched bridge down stream.

Along this quay preparations were going on for the cormorant fishing, which started at twilight and continued for an hour after dark.

At one spot, a group of boatmen... lean, brown and barefooted... wearing shorts, dark blue and white happy coats and hachimakis (sweatbands) bound tightly around their brows... were arranging short pieces of dry pinewood in iron baskets. At another spot the cormorants were gurgling and muttering to each other from the depth of round wicker baskets. Further on, thatched-roof pleasure boats were moored in a quiet eddy of the river.

"Good fishing tonight!" said the proprietor of our inn as he came to stand beside us on the balcony. "Water clean, not muddy! No fish when water muddy. Cormorants not see... No fish full moon, either. Too much light!"

The twilight came early, touching with silver the arches of the bridge at the foot of the road, smudging light clouds across a pale yellow sun, and turning the river into molten gold in spots and deep dusky black in others.

Cormorant Fishing Boats Go Upstream

There was a sudden flurry of movement on the stone quay. The sharp-proved cormorant boats with the birds, pinewood sticks and iron baskets aboard, started to move upstream. Each one pulled by two of the four-man crew, who walked along the quay with ropes over their shoulders. Aboard with his assistant was the master of the cormorants (called an usho), wearing an antique ceremonial headress.

Along the far shore the thatched-roof pleasure boats moved into the stream, each one propelled by two Japanese boatmen, who handled the sweeps with the precision that comes of years of understanding of the work. Some of the boats were already filled with parties of friends; lanterns gleamed against the low roofs.

As we watched, one of the boats detached itself from the line, and struck out across the stream to our inn anchorage.

There was a patter of slippers feet in the hallway and one of the little maids was at our door. "Boat ready!" she said in a soft sing-song. Then she ushered us down the stairs and out across the road to the steps of the stone quay.

We took off our shoes again when we stepped aboard the boat. Then walked under the lanterns to sit on cushions on the floor.

A word in Japanese from our two-man crew and we were out in the stream, straining against the tide. At one point we had to go ashore and walk on the rough stones while the boat was hauled by ropes through a particularly bad bit of the rapids.

Once at the fishing pool, the pleasure boats formed a line along a float. Samisens twanged in the darkness. A beggar in a dusty white robe with a big basket pulled down over his head (so he would not be recognized) played a flute as he floated on the edge of the light. A round-faced Japanese girl sold flares and sparkles from a flat-bottomed boat.

About 500 yards away, the cormorant boats lined up. The iron baskets were hooked to the prow. The pine wood was lit.

In perfect formation they started toward us. The decoy fires, tended by one of the crew called a kako, sputtered and crackled. A master of the cormorants was in the bow of each boat with 12 birds. His assistant, amidships, with four birds. The fourth man stood in the stern with the steering sweep.

Like Scene Hundred Years Ago

Each cormorant wore a cord around its neck to prevent it from swallowing anything but the very small fish. Thin reins, 12 feet long, were used to control the birds.

The Kako set off a few firecrackers to add to the general excitement. The birds were tossed overboard.

Now the master of the cormorants and his assistant were the busiest men on the boat for they had to handle their strings in such a way that the birds had all sorts of freedom to dive and swim. Yet, the line must never become entangled.

They must know too, when any one of the birds was gorged (usually when the neck swells and they start to gurgle). Then they shorten that particular line, pull the bird aboard and with one deft movement, squeeze the fish out and start the bird off again.

It was an amazing sight! Dramatic in outline! Like some medieval picture suddenly come to life!

Time passed quickly. Wood fires burned low. One last flare was lighted to start the pleasure boats back down stream, the gay lanterns bobbing in the velvet dark. The crescent of a new moon slipped out from a cleft in the hills, touching the river with its own faint silver.

World Traveler Takes Institute on Tour of Interesting Places Visited

Opening of Parliament at Canberra, Australia; the glow-worm caves at Waitoma, New Zealand; Honolulu, "one of the world's loveliest playgrounds"; Canton Island, "looking like a star from the air"; a Scottish Mission Hospital on the shores of Galilee; London in May. All are highlights of a world tour just completed by Miss J. E. M. Bruce.

In an interesting talk given Monday at Lake Hill Women's Institute, Miss Bruce took her listeners with her, in memory, to the many spots she visited. She described Ceylon, possible scene of the next Associated Countrywomen of the World gathering, the co-operatives and farmers' institutes in New Zealand, Darwin "plagued by hordes of kangaroos", Java with its "emerald green trees and palms, cone-shaped mountains set in purple haze and magnificent pink-red earth."

"The Javanese are not yet ready for self-government," the speaker said, "and the few who have education are striving, almost superhumanly to share their knowledge, so the next generation may be set on the way to literacy."

"Officials, after their day's work is over, turn teachers and try to spread a knowledge of English... and with the English language, a better method of sanitation."

Sarong making in Singapore came next... and then Ceylon. Rice, rubber, coconuts, cinnamon and tea are all major crops in Ceylon, the world traveler explained.

"It takes five years training to make the Tamil peasant a good tea grower and ten years to train him to be overseer of a plantation," she told the audience.

The Tamil people are clean, quick in their movements and far better workers than the Senegalese, she said. Lanka Mamil Samitai is the name of the women's organization in Ceylon that is equivalent to the Women's Institute in Canada. (Lanka being the old name for Ceylon.)

In Bombay, Miss Bruce's next stop, women are making some effort toward better living, through training schools for unmarried mothers, libraries and nursery schools.

Mrs. R. W. Mercer thanked the speaker and Mrs. Roscoe Myles presented her with a corsage. Tea was served by Mrs. L. Service, Mrs. McGregor and Miss D. Cox.

Mechanized B.C. Pest Control Carefully Selects Its Kill

British Columbia has the most highly mechanized pest control industry in the world, according to Dr. James Marshall, officer in charge of the Dominion Fruit Laboratory at Summerland.

Dr. Marshall, president of the Entomological Society of British Columbia, which is meeting at the Empress Hotel in conjunction with the Entomological Society of Canada, said the industry has resulted in great reductions to the high cost of fruit production.

"A lot of people still imagine that entomologists are long-haired cranks who run after moths and other insects with a butterfly net," he said. "Actually it's an extremely complicated, highly specialized profession, importance of which is not really understood by the public. It certainly has none of the glamor of the butterfly net," he said.

The great value of the conference, he stressed, was that it gave experts from all over Canada and the United States an opportunity to study collectively the natural inter-relationships of insects.

"We have to be very careful what insects we kill and how we kill them. Otherwise by killing one breed of insect you may cause the uprising of other more harmful types," said Dr. Marshall.

Sailors From Naden Fined for Assault

VANCOUVER (CP).—Two sailors from HMCS Naden were fined $25 each in Vancouver police court Tuesday and ordered to pay $120 damages to a man they assaulted.

The two, Myrle E. Goulding, 23, and James H. Maughan, 22, were arrested after Harry Siemens of Vancouver told police they attacked him when he remonstrated with them over insulting remarks he said they made to two women Saturday night.

Cheerful Pearson Willing To Go It Alone on Seaway

WASHINGTON (CP).—External Affairs Minister Pearson said Tuesday Canada is not hopeful that Congress will approve United States participation in construction of the St. Lawrence seaway.

"We are assuming it will be a Canadian seaway," Pearson told a press conference after a meeting with State Secretary Dulles. "We'd still like it to be an international project—but if it can't, we'll be quite happy to go ahead alone."

Discussing his meeting with Dulles, the Canadian minister said he received assurance that if litigation is started to block construction of the St. Lawrence River power project, the U.S. government will take prompt action to dispose of it.

JURY SAYS BINGO NO GAMBLE; WINNIPEG JUDGE DISAGREES

WINNIPEG (CP)—All six Canadian Legion members standing trial on lottery charges were acquitted Tuesday in assize court here. The charges followed a police raid on a bingo game at the legion's Fort Rouge branch April 30.

When the jury announced acquittal on all counts after deliberating an hour and 40 minutes, Mr. Justice A. M. Campbell told them: "I do not agree with the verdict."

The legion said proceeds from the bingo games went to charity.

400 Million Air Defense Budget Emphasizes Comox as Vital Base

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—A $10,000,000 airfield construction program in British Columbia is being rushed to completion by the Royal Canadian Air Force, part of its build-up as a powerful defense arm for the western world.

The RCAF expansion program across Canada will cost more than $300,000,000 before it is completed by the target date in 1954. Air Force authorities said here today.

In British Columbia the RCAF maritime station at Comox has $3,700,000 earmarked to be spent on the enlargement and rehabilitation of its facilities.

Included in the $3,700,000 work program for Comox station are the installation of a central heating plant, practice firing gun butts, a chapel, fuel storage facilities, a new hangar, extension to officers' mess, a power distribution sub-station, road pavement, six-room school, sewage works, an underground steam system, painting of 38 buildings, a new hangar apron and general roof repairs.

VICTORIA PROGRAM
Other British Columbia stations included in the building program are:

Victoria—Improvements to buildings and general rehabilitation of the facilities for reserve unit accommodation at a total cost of $170,000.

Fort Nelson—A staging station on the route to White Horse. At a cost of $163,000, high intensity runway lighting is being installed on two runways; bulk fuel storage facilities are being added to the station and its buildings are being rehabilitated.

Patricia Bay—Repairs are being made to hangars.

Sea Island—At a cost of $460,000, new workshops are being added to the station's present facilities.

The RCAF cost estimates do not include expenditures being made at various fields across the country by the federal department of transport, nor do they include the cost of constructing married quarters or early warning radar stations.

Composer Dies
NEW YORK (AP)—Fred E. Ahlert, 61, composer of a number of popular songs, including Bing Crosby's theme, "When the Blue of the Night Meets the Gold of the Day," died today of a heart attack. Songs he wrote included "I'll Get By," "Mean to Me," "Walking My Baby Back Home" and "I Don't Know Why."

Pulp and paper operations generate one dollar in seven of the income of Canadians.

VICTORIA WON'T SEE CD SHOW BUT CONVOY CREW ON HAND

Victoria won't get a look at the nation-touring civil defense convoy "On Guard Canada," but the crew that brought the rolling exhibit west intends to have a look at Victoria.

The convoy, trucks and semi-trailers laden with latest in CD equipment and demonstration items could not come to the island due to awkwardness of transporting the display from the mainland and the imminent return of much of the display gear to its United States owners.

One half of the crew was planning a visit here today in one of the caravan station wagons.

The other half will come over for a visit Thursday.

Many of the drivers are winners on national truck "roadshow" awards.

Red China May Take Over Tibet's Army

KALIMPONG, India (Reuters)—The Chinese government has summoned the commander-in-chief of the Tibetan army, Swang Rakasha, to Peking for talks on the incorporation of the Tibetan army into the Chinese army, according to reports reaching here today. The Chinese army now occupies Tibet.

Minor Leagues May Receive Concessions

DALLAS, (AP)—Texas league club owner Dick Burnett says he thinks great progress has been made toward getting changes in the baseball laws that will "give the minor leagues a chance to survive."

Burnett, owner of the Dallas club, called a meeting attended during the week-end by presidents and representatives of 23 minor leagues and representatives of six major league clubs.

The minor leagues approved legislation that would give them a greater voice in the framing of baseball laws, bring about an unrestricted draft, pay the players part of their purchase of draft price, allow them to waive the draft, raise the price of the draft for lower minors class B down to D, return restrictions to radio broadcasts and telecasts of major league games in minor league territory and create a revised minor league agreement.

These amendments are to be submitted to the national baseball convention in Atlanta Nov. 30 to Dec. 3, and Burnett said he was confident of their being accepted by the major leagues.

THE GALLUP POLL

Many Canadians Accept Soviet Peace Overtures

By Canadian Institute of Public Opinion

While a majority of Canadians are still suspicious of Russian intentions, the fact seems to be that the "peace offensive" dating from the death of Stalin has convinced many Canadians that Russia does not want a war of aggression.

As a result, the number of Canadians who believe that Russia would start a war "only if provoked" is at its highest point in five years, based on institute surveys. At three different times Canadian opinion has been assessed by the Canadian Institute on this question:

"Do you think Russia would start a war to get something she wanted—or only if provoked?"

This question was put to an accurate cross section of Canadian voters in 1948, again a year ago, and in the institute's latest poll. The trend in this period is shown in the following table:

	1948	1952	(Feb.) (Oct.) Today
Believe Russia would start war:
To get something she wanted	12%	14%	11%
Only if provoked	71	74	77
Qualified; no opinion, etc.	16	12	12
	100%	100%	100%

By way of comparison, on the same three occasions, the institute also put this question to voters in its miniature plebiscite:

"Do you think the U.S. would start a war to get something she wanted—or only if provoked?"

With respect to Russia's intentions, greatest confidence is found in the province of British Columbia. As on so many issues polled by the institute, the Pacific province seems to live in almost a different "opinion climate" from the rest of Canada. For example, in B.C. 41 per cent of those interviewed felt Russia would start a war "only if provoked," and 42 per cent felt she would start a war "to get something she wanted"—an almost 50-50 division of opinion. This is in sharp contrast with the national figure given above. On the matter of U.S. intentions, B.C. is much more in line with the national average.

United States and Russia are, of course, geographically, Canada's two closest neighbors, and the difference in attitude on this issue is therefore all the more significant.

Migratory Habits Of Geese Studied

SPRINGFIELD, ILL. (UP)—An experiment has been launched to determine why geese migrate like they do.

The Illinois conservation department disclosed today it is trans-planting 500 Canada geese to three southern states in a project to study the birds' homing instincts and migrating patterns.

The geese are being trapped at the Horseshoe Lake refuge near Cairo, Ill., for shipment to refuge areas in Tennessee, Arkansas and Mississippi.

They will be banded so biologists can identify them and follow their line of flight during migrations from their new homes.

Joe B. Davidson, state superintendent of game management, said the purpose was to "learn more about their habits."

He said the experimenters want to see whether the geese will return to their new homes after their northward migration next year or go back to Horseshoe Lake.

Davidson said game experts believe the transplanted birds may provide the nucleus for three new flocks at their new homes.

The experiment is a co-operative project of the U.S. fish and wildlife service and 13 Mississippi flyway states.

Grid Deaths Reach Eight

NEW YORK (AP)—Two high school football players died during the weekend, bringing to eight the number of grid fatalities in the United States since the start of the season.

Other deaths have included three college players and three high school athletes.

Earl King, a Clay, West Va., high school player, died after being hurt in a game Friday night. Doctors said he died of a combination of shock and weak heart.

Lewis Robertson, a 17-year-old Alexandria, Va., high school player, died after he left the field at half-time of a Saturday night game.

He complained of dizziness. Officials said he injured his head a week ago.

Stewart Leads AHL Scorers

NEW YORK (AP)—Gaye Stewart of Buffalo Bisons, the team that had the weakest offense in the league last season, holds first place in the American Hockey League point derby, according to statistics released Monday.

Stewart has three goals and four assists for seven points. Seven players are tied for second with six and another five have five points. Only Joe Lund of Buffalo and Willie Marshall of Pittsburgh have managed to notch four goals.

Harvey Bennett of Providence holds the goal-tending lead with a 2.00 average, including the only shutout to date.

The National Hockey League champions announced Monday that Gatherrum, utility forward Marcel Bonin and defenseman Jim Hay would join the Canadian club.

Russian Leads Chess Tourney

ZURICH, Switzerland (CP)—Vassily Smyslov of Russia strengthened his hold on the lead in the elimination tournament to pick a challenger for a world chess championship Tuesday night when he drew with Mark Taimanov of Russia in a Catalan opening lasting 42 moves.

Smyslov now has 17 points with two games to complete in the 28-round tournament. He leads Samuel Reshevsky of the United States and David Bronstein of Russia by two and one-half points.

UNDERGROUND CLUBHOUSES DANGEROUS, CHILDREN WARNED

WINDSOR, Ont. (BUP)—Firemen warned today that a "new fad" for building underground clubhouses may cost the lives of some children and termed the tunnels more dangerous than discarded iceboxes.

Dozens of the clubhouses are being built and some are 30 feet long, he said.

Irish Lead Spartans In Grid Poll

NEW YORK (UP)—Michigan State, seeking its second straight national college football championship, moved up to a threatening position behind Notre Dame in the United Press ratings Monday, followed by two southern powers, Maryland and Georgia Tech.

While Notre Dame led the poll of 35 leading coaches for the fourth week in a row, the Spartans narrowed last week's 48-point deficit to 18 points. Maryland, Georgia Tech, Michigan and Baylor each moved up a notch as UCLA dropped from third to tenth after being upset by Stanford.

Illinois was this week's only newcomer among the top 10 teams, jumping from 11th place to seventh. Oklahoma and Southern California each advanced one place to eighth and ninth respectively. Duke, which was upset by Army, dropped out of the top ten.

Eugene Letourneau of Quebec City was chosen to succeed Fred Steele of Toronto, who died recently.

Members of the board of governors will be named later, the federation said.

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UP)—Jack Tighe, manager of the Buffalo Bisons of the International League for the past two years, will not return next spring, the parent Detroit Tigers revealed today.

While Notre Dame led the poll of 35 leading coaches for the fourth week in a row, the Spartans narrowed last week's 48-point deficit to 18 points. Maryland, Georgia Tech, Michigan and Baylor each moved up a notch as UCLA dropped from third to tenth after being upset by Stanford.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor Ray Milland and his wife announced today they have separated.

A joint statement said they "have come to the decision that it might be best for both of us to be separate temporarily. The problems which have ended in this decision are purely personal. There is no third party involved."

THE WAYNES: CHAPTER TWO

Avocado in His Sandwich Started Another Fight

LOS ANGELES (AP)—John Wayne, the movies' No. 1 box office star, was a rough man to live with, drunk or sober, his wife told a divorce court Tuesday.

The former Esperanza Baur said she almost shot him by mistake when he came home drunk one morning and entered by smashing the door.

On another occasion he slapped her for putting avocado in a sandwich, she said. In Acapulco, Mexico, he berated her for swimming in the ocean with some people she did not know were nude, she said.

Clubs Charging New Drinks Tax

Confusion Removed by Injunction To Vendors; But Charges Vary

After four days of confusion clubs in the Victoria area began charging the new 10 per cent tax on drinks by the glass today.

The new tax actually became effective last Saturday afternoon when Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace gave assent to the tax change, but clubs had not charged it because they claimed they had not been officially notified.

Today they received instructions from the sales tax branch stating that the tax should be collected. At the same time the Liquor Control Board sent orders to liquor stores stating that purchases of liquor by clubs would not be subject to the ordinary 3 per cent sales tax. The 10 per cent drinks by the glass tax takes its place for this kind of business.

BEER EXEMPTED

The new tax does not apply on draft beer, nor on bottled beer which is sold from beer parlors or from veterans' clubs, which have only a beer license. Bottled beer in these places is subject to the ordinary 3 per cent tax.

However, in places where hard liquor is sold as well as beer, the 10 per cent drinks tax applies on everything.

Club managers were in a bit of a quandary as to how to charge the new tax. In most places instead of collecting the actual pennies for the tax, they adjusted their price lists to the nearest nickel so that drink prices would not be charged to odd cents. Others were charging the tax to the nearest cent.

Informed government sources pointed out today the clubs should have been charging the tax ever since last Saturday afternoon. In view of the confusion which existed, however, it was not thought likely any action would be taken against them to recover taxes that should have been charged in the intervening three days.

Lester B. Pearson, Canadian Minister of External Affairs and former president of the United Nations, was today announced as one of the leading candidates for this year's Nobel Peace award. CONFIDENCE VOTE ASKED BY CHURCHILL

LONDON (UP) — Prime Minister Winston Churchill tonight demanded a vote of confidence on his government's action in rushing troops to the British Guiana colony in South America to prevent a Communist coup. Churchill called for the confidence vote on the eve of an anticipated explosive debate of the issue in Commons and shortly after Jagan arrived in London to protest the British actions.

Jagan was accompanied on his flight here by the deposed education minister, L. F. S. Burnham. They hope to appeal to the Laborite opposition against the drastic measures taken by Colonial Secretary Oliver Lyttelton. (See story page 3.)

TITLE FIGHT TONIGHT ON RADIO AT 7

Tonight's world middle-weight championship fight between Randy Turpin of Britain and Carl (Bobo) Olson of San Francisco will be broadcast over radio station CTVI and televised over KTNB, channel 11, starting at 7, Victoria time.

When the two fighters weighed in at noon for their bout at Madison Square Garden, New York, Turpin scaled 157 and Olson 159½.

Strike Closes Last Gold Mine In Ont.-Quebec

6,500 Men Out; Stoppage Complete

NORANDA, Que. (BUP) — Workers at Waite Amulet, the last copper and gold mine still operating in this area, walked out on strike early today.

The walkout came after last-minute negotiations broke down in a dispute over the checkoff.

A strike has been legal since Tuesday, and the 320 mine employees have voted 88 per cent in favor of it.

REFUSED PAY BOOST

Mine manager T. E. Little said the company was prepared to make an offer on all points in dispute, including a wage boost, if the union would give up its demands for the checkoff. He said the union "summarily rejected" the proposal.

Pat Burke, area supervisor for the United Steelworkers union, said the company had not offered to discuss anything except a wage increase, and that only if the checkoff were dropped.

The union's other demands include a 22-cent-an-hour wage boost, a cut in working hours from 48 to 44, more holidays and a pension plan.

Strikes have already been called at the Noranda, Que. and Noranda mines in the northwestern Quebec mining district and at seven others across the border in the Porcupine gold fields of Ontario.

About 6,500 workers have been idled, some for more than three months, in the union's campaign for wage increases and the checkoff.

Negotiations are still under way at Upper Canada mines at Kirkland Lake, and the union said talks would be resumed next Monday. The union there is asking an eight-cent wage increase, as well as shorter hours and the checkoff.

OTTAWA (CP) — The board of transport commissioners today announced it will hear representations from interested groups before it allows increases in freight rates on domestic "grain movements" in western Canada.

Million U.S. Railmen Take Strike Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leaders of 15 unions Tuesday ordered a strike vote among 1,000,000 non-operating railroad workers to back up demands for improved fringe benefits.

G. E. Leighty, chairman of a negotiating committee set up by the unions, announced at the same time that the unions have asked the national mediation board to step into the five-month-long dispute.

ITALY DARES TITO ON TRIESTE BORDER

Armored Patrols From U.S.-Equipped Divisions Move to Edge of Zone A

GORIZIA, Italy (UP) — Italy's best American-equipped NATO divisions today turned the 75-mile frontier opposite Yugoslavia into a vast armored camp.

Hundreds of United States-built Patton tanks covered with protective tarpaulins lined the streets of this partitioned city on the Italian-Yugoslav border and nearby villages.

The tanks armed with 90-millimeter guns which were supplied to Italy by the United States roared to within sight of the barbed wire boundary. On the Yugoslav side, Marshal Tito was reported to have brought up the same type American tanks last week.

Paratroops of the crack Italian Folgore (Thunderbolt) division were busy stringing telephone cables as if they meant to stay.

Armored patrols went under cover of darkness to alert positions within yards of Yugoslav and Zone A of Trieste which the United States and Britain have promised to turn over to Italy. Marshal Tito has warned he will move his Yugoslav troops into the zone if Italian forces set foot in it.

Dean Plans Showdown Talks With Communist

WASHINGTON (UP) — Ambassador Arthur H. Dean headed for the Far East today to try to save the Korean peace conference, threatened by Communist stalling and the deepening crisis over prisoner repatriation.

Dean, former law partner of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, will represent the United Nations in showdown talks with the Communists at Panmunjom Monday.

He is under orders to press for immediate agreement on a time and place for the political conference which, under the armistice terms, was supposed to begin next Wednesday.

Lending special urgency to his mission are ominous developments in Korea — South Korea's renewed threat to resume the war unless the conference begins soon and the Communist boycott of the PW brainwashing program.

Before leaving, Dean conferred with representatives of the 15 Allied nations that fought with the United States and the UN in Korea. What was said, however, was kept secret.

Efforts to get the political conference started on time have been snarled mainly by a deadlock over the Communist demand that "neutral" countries be invited and the UN insistence that only representatives of the two belligerents take part.

Dean has been authorized to discuss this issue but not to make any commitments without the approval of Dulles and other Allied representatives. There have been persistent but unconfirmed reports, however, that Dean might indicate UN willingness to compromise in the interest of getting the conference started.

PW Repatriation Feud May Result in New War

By EARNEST HOBERECHT

TOKYO (UP) — The explosive armistice and prisoner of war situation is coming rapidly to a climax and observers here believe the chances for permanent peace are growing dimmer.

The next 10 days may tell. In the face of this "showdown" situation, the United Nations command is preparing for any eventuality, including the resumption of fighting.

Beyond a doubt the Communists also are alert to the possibility of renewed battlefield action.

Here is what is happening:

1. "Explanations" to prisoners of war are running behind schedule. As a matter of fact, explanations to these prisoners, who said they did not want to go back to their respective homelands, may never be finished.

2. The Swedes, Swiss and Indians on the neutral nations repatriation commission are sliding against the Poles and Czechs — on the question of whether to use force to make prisoners attend explanation sessions. The majority says "no."

3. Members of the NNRC appear to be feuding among themselves.

If the explanations fail to come off or are not completed by the deadline of December 24, they will not be held. The UN command will not agree to an extension.

In the political conference, the UN is not likely to agree to any further holding of the prisoners. So, the prisoners probably will revert to civilian status and be turned loose on January 22.

On October 26, only two days before the deadline for starting a political conference, Communist and Allied representatives will meet at Panmunjom to discuss the big pay-off session.

The October 26 meeting is not expected to accomplish a great deal, but it might pave the way for a full conference and therefore avoid a complete collapse of efforts.

However, right now many observers believe there is at least a 50-50 chance that the political conference never will be held.

If this happens, renewed hostilities in Korea are a definite possibility, although the UN undoubtedly will go to a great length to find some means to prevent this.

Plucked From Death Under Lion's Gate

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two men were plucked from death Tuesday evening when their small craft foundered in wild seas one mile west of Lion's Gate Bridge.

Crewmen of the tug Nanaimo Tyee rescued the men. The 22-foot pleasure craft sank.

British Soldier Found Guilty of Cowardice

CATTERICK CAMP, Eng. (AP) — A court-martial today convicted a British soldier of cowardice for cringing in a Korean trench while his comrades fought a desperate battle with the Communists.

Fusilier Patrick Lydon, 26, was sentenced to a year in prison and discharged with ignominy. The finding and sentence are subject to confirmation. It was the first such case in the British Army in more than 30 years.

VANCOUVER (CP) — A Royal Canadian Air Force aircraft and crash boat scoured the Cape Lazo area, near Comox, today for some sign of a U.S. fishing boat which radioed a distress call early this morning.

Meanwhile, in Tel Aviv, the Israeli cabinet voted to support Premier David Ben-Gurion's defiance of a United Nations decision even though members knew it would mean a suspension of American economic aid, announced yesterday by U.S. State Secretary Dulles.

Informed sources said the cabinet, by a split vote, approved the premier's stand against yielding to the UN order to stop work on the Jordan canal. The vote was said to be eight to three with one member abstaining.

The sources said the ministers voted with full knowledge the step meant the United States would cut off aid.

Almost 63 per cent of the Red Feather target of $210,686 was collected before noon today by Community Chest canvassers.

Officials announced that the total now stands at $132,506 and add they are not worried about the drive failing to meet its objective.

The pledge system and the payroll deduction plan are given as the reason for the good response.

The public employees' division of the Chest drive has reported collections neighboring on $10,000, two-thirds of the $15,000 target.

George Masters revealed that that figure had been reached even though the canvass has not yet covered municipal employees of the district.

Dominion government workers have given $1,207.50; provincial employees, $3,838.70; B.C. Power Commission employees, $364.80, and the Greater Victoria School Board staff, $1,488.50.

Hospital employees have turned in $2,310 from Jubilee and $440 from St. Joseph's.

OLSON QUOTED 13-5 CHOICE OVER TURPIN

Clubs Charging Tipplers' Tax

Confusion Removed by Injunction To Vendors; But Charges Vary

After four days of confusion clubs in the Victoria area began charging the new 10 per cent tax on drinks by the glass today.

The new tax actually became effective last Saturday afternoon when Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace gave assent to the tax change, but clubs had not charged it because they claimed they had not been officially notified.

Today they received instructions from the sales tax branch stating that the tax should be collected. At the same time the Liquor Control Board sent orders to liquor stores stating that purchases of liquor by clubs would not be subject to the ordinary 3 per cent sales tax.

The 10 per cent drinks by the glass tax takes its place for this kind of business.

The new tax does not apply on draft beer, nor on bottled beer which is sold from beer parlors or from veterans' clubs which have only a beer license.

Bottled beer in these places is subject to the ordinary 3 per cent tax.

However, in places where hard liquor is sold as well as beer, the 10 per cent drinks tax applies on everything.

Club managers were a bit bit for the people of the province, that the minister of finance have a seat in the Legislature, the premier said.

He thought that in the last five months Mr. Gunderson, as

Californian Heavier For Tonight's Fight

Radio Broadcast at 7—CJVI. Television at 7—KTNT—Channel 11

NEW YORK (UP)—Randy Turpin scaled an unexpectedly low 157 pounds and Bobo Olson registered 159½ today for their world middleweight title fight at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Olson remained a 13-to-5 favorite.

Turpin's weight was surprising because there had been rumors he was having difficulties piling down to the 160-pound limit.

Moreover, the European champion from England had been forced to take off a half pound at the weigh-in for his last bout with Charles Humez at London on June 9.

Both contenders for the vacant world crown said they had eaten no breakfast this morning.

However, Turpin did not even "dry out." He said he had a cup of tea this morning. Olson did dry out as is his custom before all fights.

He had had no liquids since Tuesday afternoon.

To prevent any delay, each fighter made a test weight at the nearby headquarters of the boxing commission.

There Turpin scaled 157½ and Olson came in at 159½. (See earlier story he appeared relaxed and in a page 8.)
